Convention Of Feed Dealers Attended By Alvin Mondrik

'As there is a constant cash market for the farmer for milk, cream, chickens, eggs, lamb, pork and by the sale of these he is able to pay cash for his feed, tools, farm implements, seeds and other commodities, it is naturally the one-crop farmer who is now suffering the most desperate financial condition. Naturally, the farmer who has this ready cash coming in regularly can pay cash for what he buys and thereby get a lower price on his purchases.'

During the convention Alvin Mondrik of Mondrik Brothers said, emphasis was put on new merchandising ideas which will help Southern feed dealers render better service to the feeders of poultry and livestock in their communities. It was pointed out by the various speakers durin the convention that only by receiving cash can the dealer help the feeder in getting the most from his money. A feed dealer, he said, cannot lend money as cheaply as a bank, and it stands to reason that credit purchases cost the customer more than cash buying. 'Merchants' said Mr. Mondrik, 'are giving their customers who pay cash advantage of a lower price per ton for the prompt payment of bills.'

The convention, attended by several hundred aggressive, Texas feed dealers, was one of a series promoted by the Ralston Purina Company for the purpose of assisting the dealers in taking a prominent part in relieving the farmer of financial distress. Besides the business sessions, entertainment was furnished Thursday night at a banquet for the dealers, during which a musical program was given.

Solution of the farm relief problem will come from the farmers of the United States themselves, rather than from any governmental aid, according to W. H. Ranforth of St. Louis, founder of the Ralston Purina Company, who was one of the principal speakers during a record-breaking convention of Texas feed dealers sponsored by that organization February 20 and 21 at Fort Worth. Mr. Mondrik returned today from the convention which he stated was the most enthusiastic ever held under the sponsorship of the Ralston Purina Company.

'Application of business methods to farming will bring the surest relief to those engaged in the agricultural industry,' Mr. Danforth stated during his talk. 'The use of accurate records on all livestock and poultry is absolutely essential for the farmer of today. In this way only can he detect the profit-makers or the profittakers in his herds of cattle and hogs and his flocks of poultry. By careful checking on each animal and bird on his place he can cull out and use only the high producers and money makers.

'Carrying the business attitude of today further into farming,' Mr. Danforth continued, 'the farmer has learned that the steady cash income from diversified agriculture is one of his chief helps. This is especially true in the South, where it was formerly thought only cotton could be produced profitably. These men are now turning to dairying, poultry raising and hog raising to supplement their farm income. Within the past five years millions have been spent in the erection of milk condensories, cheese factories, creameries, poultry fattening plants and in some cases packing houses, which provide markets for surplus products of the cow, pig and hen.'

Philco Radio Leading Field In Production Popular Equipment

The Philco Radio according to J. T. Parma local dealer, has moved from 29th place to second place in production in 1929 and for the past six months has led the field in production. This popular set is being sold and serviced here by Mr. Parma.

'Since last June when Philco definitely and agressively set out to win leadership in the radio industry, Philco has outsold the entire field,' said Mr. Parma. This is an interesting development in the field of radio set production. The Philco is proving its popularity and leadership over the nation and here in the Cameron territory Mr. Parma has been able to make a splendid showing with this marvelous set.

In the shop of Joe J. Parma, service man for the agency here will be found a most interesting display of equipment for servicing the sets. A testing board, made by Mr. Parma and the only one of its kind in existence gives him equipment for this work that is very efficient and all sufficient for every need in giving service and making repairs on all makes of sets.

NEW GUSHER COMES IN TAYLOR OIL FIELD

SCONYERS WELL MAY BE 2000 BARREL PRODUCER IN NEW TEXAS FIELD

(Taylor Press)

Hopes of people all over this section and dreams of the drillers themselves on the Sconyers-Wilson Abbott No. 1 were realized Monday when the well with terrific pressure blew in at five o'clock Monday morning, after having belched forth oil and gas mud since drilling was stopped yesterday afternoon shortly after three o'clock. The bit barely topped the pay dirt, at 1782 feet, it was announced and when tanks and proper facilities are completed, the hole may be made deeper.

Thousands of people were on hand yesterday at the scene of operations which is located across a 50-acre tract northeast of the discovery well, after reports had been widely circulated the well would come in Sunday. An eager crowd pressed close to the mouth of the control valve watching the slime and oil pushed out by the gas pressure throughout yesterday afternoon. Not only Williamson county represented, but delegations from the surrounding cities came to view the well's activity.

The well has not been opened up as yet, the drill stem having never been removed, and it is thought mud still chokes down the pressure. Despite these handicaps the control valve is opened at intervals and at one time, about 10:45 this morning, when it was opened, oil shot across the first pit into the second, a distance of about 40 feet or more. Some have estimated the flow at 1000 barrels a day and upwards. Many oil men maintain it will be better than the first well.

It is expected no attempt will be made to turn the well loose at full speed until storage tanks have been completed. Workmen have started on the foundation for two 1000 barrel steel tanks located a few hundred feet northeast of the well, and a pipe line connection has been laid from the well to the site of these tanks.

The mud and slime in the first pit adjoining the derrick has been forced into the next pit so that the former may be used as a temporary storage place for the oil which has been produced thus far.

The oil now being produced is said by drillers to be approximately of the same gravity as that being produced by the discovery well.

Business Women's Club Has Interesting History; Celebrate National Week

By DELPHYA SCOTT

The Cameron Business and Professional Women's Club was organized five years ago as a fun-loving club with Miss Susan Pope as chairman; later Ann Stallworth was elected as club president, serving one year. It was then the club was known as the Business and Professional Women's Club. Miss Rose Rischar was the second president, and it was during her administration the club federated. Mrs. Meta McCown was the next president and Mrs. Gladys M. Watson is president at this time.

Members at first met at appointed places some times at the Country Club and frequently in the home of Mrs. Bessie Louise Hefley, a member, and at suitable seasons gathered in open air at various places. After the election of Mrs. Watson as president, the Texas Water Company offered the use of their new offices to the club for regular meetings, and many delightful evenings have been spent in this pleasant place.

The club has been recognized by the Chamber of Commerce, the Legioneers and other civic clubs, named the Cameron Princess to represent Milam County at the East Texas Chamber of Commerce that met last year at A. & M. College, have been hostess to the County Institute when they entertained all the county teachers, entertained the local teachers, have aided two girls and one boy in securing a commercial education.

Among the many delightful entertainments are two 'Bosses Banquets,' sponsored four plays, entertained the club State President, Miss Daisy Leake, and have taken part in a number of civic affairs. Their major project for this year is the beautifying the City Park with Mrs. L. Bigbee as chairman of the work.

The club has been represented at three State conventions: Mineral Wells, San Antonio and Temple, and sent one of it's presidents, Miss Rose Rischar, to the National Convention when held at New Orleans.

Several honors have fallen to the club since federating, receiving state and national recognition. Mrs. Nina C. Wilkerson was appointed State Legislative Chairman the first year; Miss Delphya Scott was appointed Assistant State Publicity Chairman with six cities in her district; and received honorable mention of her club book of publicity for the club last year at state convention at Temple.

The club bears the distinction of having as a member the person whom Legioneers elected as the most worthy citizen of Cameron in a contest last

METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday at the 11 o'clock service the subject of the sermon will be 'True Wealth,' and Mrs. A. J. Triggs will sing 'Face to Face,' one of the most beautiful of all solos. The evening subject (at 7:30) will be 'Five Great Powers of Life.' We again invite all who read this, who have no other church home, to come and share with us what is offered at the Methodist church. Our Sunday school begins at 9:45. Our attendance is gradually and steadily increasing. The Epworth Leagues meet at 6:30 p. m. 'Test our Welcome' at any and all services.

Yoemen Get Work In Initial Game

On Tuesday afternoon a picked team under the leadership of Wm. R. Rogers played the Yoe High school a seven inning game at the Lawless Green Field which resulted in a 12 to 3 score for the Rogerites. Many changes were made on both sides during the fray.

Miss Gladys Davis,student at Baylor University, was at home last week end to spend the holidays at the end of the second quarter of school. She brought wit hher as her guest her roommate, Miss Elizabeth Williams of Forrest City, Arkansas. Mr. and Mrs. Judd Davis and son John, took them back to Waco Sunday by automobile.

Mrs. J. W. Kemp came home from Taylor for a few days this week.

Mrs. G. C. McLeod of Lyons spent Monday in Cameron with her son, R. G. McLeod and Mrs. McLeod.

'The Parable of the Sower,' 7:30 p. m. sermon.

Sunday, March 16, is Men's Sunday. The men are to attend church in a group and there will be special services for them.

The training school is attracting large crowds. Forty were present last Wednesday evening. Beginning this week there will be two 45-minute periods each Wednesday evening.

Fifty-five were present at Sunday school last Sunday. A slight decrease was shown in the attendance. Easter is only a few weeks off and we must have 100 in Sunday school by that time.

Services last Sunday evening were again dismissed and the members of our church heard another fine message at the Presbyterian church. The C. E. Society was guest of the Presbyterian C. E. and Rev. Hardigree was the principal speaker.

Finance Secretary For Methodist Church

Rev. John Wesley Ford, who for several years has been a student at Southwestern University, Georgetown, has been secured as financial secretary and general assistant to the pastor of the Methodist church for the remainder of this year. He comes very highly recommended by those who know him best as an examplory young man and his coming will mean a great deal to the work of the church. He is expected to arrive Saturday of this week. He will make his home at the Methodist parsonage.

An Urgent Appeal to Cotton Planters For an Acreage Cut

With world's consumption of American cotton approximately half a million bales below the first six months of last season while domestic figures will be compelled to run against a monthly average of 616,000 during the second half of the year, indications point to a considerable increase in the carryover on July 31, compared with a year ago. As curtailment is still in force among American mills and the export movement continues to run behind last season to the extent of over 600,000 bales, liquidation of both contracts and spot cotton weakened the position, carrying spot prices in New Orleans more than a cent below the Farm Board lending figure at that port.

The planting season is rapidly approaching and this whole subject of the amount of land to be given over to cotton should receive the earnest consideration of every cotton grower in the South. When prices declined to 10c and 12c a pound under the record acreage of nearly 49,000,000 and the record production of 18,000,000 bales in 1926, planters cut acreage 10 per cent to 15 per cent the following spring. This not only brought about a smaller yield but caused a profitable readjustment of the price level and resulting returns to the producer. Acreage was steadily increased during the two succeeding years until last

NEW HIGHWAY SOUGHT FOR THIS SECTION

COMMITTEE IS NAMED ON CAMERON TO GEORGETOWN PROPOSED ROUTE

A new highway for Milam county giving road connection with a large area of the state is proposed and a committee has been named from the commercial club to work out the details in conjunction with committees from other towns interested.

The new highway would run from Cameron to Georgetown, a more direct route probably from Cameron to Sharpe and Davilla and to Granger and from there to Georgetown.

This matter was brought to the attention of the Commercial Club on Monday night when Secretary W. M. Cobb read a letter from A. B. Smith of Granger, asking for a meeting with the good roads committee and others interested in the project. Accordingly on Monday the meeting was held at the Cameron State Bank and Giles L. Avriett of the good roads committee reported the results of this meeting to the club on Monday night.

On the suggestion of Mr. Avriett a banquet has been arranged for Monday night, March 17 in the basement of the Methodist church at which time delegations from the towns interested in the highway will be entertained.

The visitors present at this meeting were: A. B. Smith, Granger; Chester Cocke, Friendship; H. H. Camp, San Gabriel ;F. W. Worley, Duncan; Emil Fick, Sharp.

Mr. Avriett moved that a committee of three be appointed to solicit the attendance of the officers, directors and committee chairmen of the club and all other interested citizens who would attend.

President Jackson appointed the following on this committee: J. C Young, T. S. Henderson, Jr., and G. L. Avriett. The Secretary was authorized to arrange for the banquet.

Attention was called to the importance of the cotton acreage reduction movement and the secretary was asked to have lists prepared and left at several stores for signing, and to offer the list for publication in local papers.

Health Features Sell Electric Refrigerators

The electric refrigerator is probably more capable of increasing the health and happiness of the American family, than any other recent invention for the household.

A few years ago little thought was given to refrigeration by homemakers. Almost any nook or corner, cooler, in even the slightest degree than the outside temperature was deemed a satisfactory storage place for even the most perishable refrigerators.

According to Mr. Glenn Flinn of the Texas Power and Light Company agents for the General Electric Refrigerator, one of their first discoveries was that harmful bacteria developed with great rapidity in foods stored in a temperarute above 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

'Destructive bacteria is present in foods at all times,' he continued, 'and it requires only warmth and moisture to develop it. The growth of this bacteria causes mold, which if consumed, may result in serious ailments.

'It is necessary, therefore, that food be stored in a temperature ranging between 40 and 50 degrees Fahrenheit must be used.

'The majority of the people now realize these facts, which in addition to the convenience and utility of electric refrigeration accounts for its tremendous acceptance in a few years time.

'A good electric refrigerator will pay for itself in a short time by the food saving and convenience it makes possible. In the average home, approximately 10 to 15 per cent of the foods purchased are lost by spoilage. By installing an electric refrigerator the purchaser not only constitutes a saving, but insures the health and happiness of his family against spoiled foods for all time.'

Mr. and Mrs. A. G Button and family have moved to Cameron from Hillsboro. Mr. Button is filling the vacancy made at the Texas Power & Light Company office made when Mr. Cecil McGregor was transferred to Athens from Cameron.

ESSEX CHALLENEGR IN TESTS HERE FRIDAY

HORSTMANN BROTHERS PRESENT 1930 CAR IN SERIES OF TESTS

Carrying a representative of The Herald to the Taylor oil field Friday March 7, where a new gusher was to come in the 1930 Essex Challenger presented by Horstmann Brothers was used in a quick run to the field. The newspaper reported was placed at the scene of the gusher in record time and incidentally observed the wonderful features of the New Essex Challenger.

The trip was made also as a part of the National Essex Challenge Week. It was a novel test throughout, the element of quick transportation entered into the trip as the run was made against time to witness the bringing in of the well, and also a series of power tests were made which shows to remarkable advantage the new Essex.

The following tests will be of interest to readers of this paper:

A new Essex sedan taken from show rooms of Horstmann Brothers for test. This demonstration was arranged in compliance with National Essex Challenge Week and following results obtained:

A total of 176 and 65-100 miles covered on the run which included a trip to the Taylor oil field approximately 17 miles southeast of Taylor.

Gasoline test from Buckholts to Cameron shows a mileage per gallon attained as follows: 20 71-100 miles per gallon. This test was made by disconnecting vacuum tank from gas supply and one half gallon was used.

Brake test as follows: Challenger permitted to attain speed of [illegible] miles per hour and sedan stopped within 15 feet and one inch by tape measure showing remarkable operation of the four wheel brakes.

Accelleration test as follows: Challenger moving in high gear at 5 miles per hour attained speed of 38 miles per hour in ten seconds.

Accelleration test No. 2 as follows: Car stopped and gears shifted from low to second and high, attaining speed of 47 miles per hour in 15 seconds.

Power test on Knob Hill near Rogers as follows: Car started in high gear at foot of hill with four passengers and variable speed of from 5 to 10 miles per hour up steep grade in high gear.

Power test No. 2: Car started in high gear at foot of hill holding speed from 5 to 7 miles per hour and when reaching highest point of grade Essex sedan made complete circle of and in high gear and moved powerfully up to crest in high at speed of 5 miles per hour showing remarkable power in high gear.

Power test No. 3: Essex approached hill at normal crusing speed and attained speed of 37 miles per hour at crest, low speed being 37 miles per hour during climb.

Power Test No. 4: Car started in high gear from complete stop at foot of hill and attained speed of 25 miles per hour at crest of hill.

As stated above this car is the standard Essex Challenger four door sedan and a new car never driven and with no mileage on its speedometer. All tests were made against strong winds, both as to gasoline tests and hill climbing power tets. The consumption of lubricating oil over the 176 mile drive was negligible.

Epworth League Will Present Comedy On Tuesday, March 18

The clever comedy, 'Oh, Didn't It Rain' will be produced Tuesday evening of next week (March 18) at the Yoe High school auditorium. The play is sponsored by the Senior Epworth League of the Methodist church and the players are from Waco, directed by Mrs. Tullie Mistrot of the Mistrot School of Expression and Dramatic Art.

The players will represent collegiate characters and lively camp scenes will be featured. There are twelve players, who will appear in the local performance, and one of the two 'negro' parts will be played by Dr. Ola D. Massie, who is a former Cameron girl and a most able player.

Don't miss this witty play of three acts and the opportunity of enjoying an evening of wholesome fun and amusement.

News Of Seventh Grade

The following are original conversations written by the Seventh grade:

Conversation

'Jerry, even if Jack didn't have many pleasures, he should have waited till after school to go fishing, for an education is priceless.'

'But, John, the place was too far away to get there and fish a while and come back after school, and besides I think Jack needs some recreation for 'all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.'

'That's all true, but if he has no more responsibility tha n to be sent to school and then go fishing, he should not be allowed to have fun until he learned better.'

'However, John, school sometimes makes me tired, and, though I don't want to, I am sometimes tempted to play hooky. He has lived under different conditions and cannot stand the temptation.'

'But, Jerry, he should not betray his father's trust. You'll never win me. Goody-bye.'

'The same here, John, good-bye.'

Roy Baskin.

Such Argument

We were over at Bill's the other day. The gang was tired of marbles, so we sat in the shade of a chinaberry tree, discussing events. It was hot summer time but we got to talking about football. A remark was made by Sam.

'You know,' he said, 'I don't think football is so fast. I'd rather play baseball any day. There's more action to it.'

I said, 'I don't know about that. In baseball you just jump around and don't run far. In football you get away for a long run (sometimes) and then you run after somebody on the other side and catch him on the one foot line after a thrilling 75 yard run.'

Then up came Sam with another argument. 'But baseball is our national game. It's also played by nearly all the rest of the world. Just the United States and Canada play real football.'

Then put in Bill, another champion for football, 'Yes, but look at the great crowds that come to a football game.'

Sam said, 'But that's just once a week. They have nearly that many people every day of the week in base ball. And look at the world's series crowds.'

I said, 'And how about an Army-Navy bame.'

After all this long and weighty argument we went to a universally liked pastime, Kites.'

Giles Avriett.

Why Wayne Went Fishing

'Hey, wait a minute, Wayne. Did you go fishing yesterday?'

'Yes, who told you?'

'Sam did. He saw you going.'

'He must have been late to school then.'

'He was, but tell why you skipped school.'

'Aunt Polly told me yesterday I couldn't go fishing any this month and you know I haven't been in nearly a year, so I just had to take a day off.'

'Your're about as much in the right as you are wrong. But you could have waited until Saturday and asked Mr. Davis if you could get off. Anyhow I hope you don't get in trouble about it. So long.'

Ernest Sharpe.

A Fuss With Mother About Old Clothes

One morning mother said, 'Bill, wear your pants to your old suit and your rubber boots because it is raining and I don't want you to ruin your good trousers.'

Bill said, 'Oh mother, I don't want to wear them because I don't look well in old clothes.'

His mother said, 'All right wear your good clothes but if you get muddy I will not have them cleaned and pressed this week.'

Bill was very happy and at dinner he came home and said, 'Mother I got them muddy but won't you have them cleaned.'

His mother said, 'No.' Sunday he had to go around dirty but he never wore his good clothes on rainy days again because it is not your looks that count.

Corrol Green.

A Boy That Stayed Away From School To Go Fishing

Jack and I met at the corner. I was started to school and he was going fishing.

I said, 'Jack we are going to learn how to parse verbs in school today and you will have a hard time understanding tomorrow if you are not there.'

Jack hung his head and said, 'I don't care I will have a good time fishing.' So J—ack and I parted. That afternoon after school I saw Jack coming down the road all muddy and wet.

I said, 'Jack I believe you had pretty good luck.'

Jack replied, 'I did; I fell in the creek and got all muddy and did not catch but one little three inch perch. I wish I had gone to school instead.'

Roderick Long.

Last Friday we had our section tryouts in declamation. The following won: 7C: Giles Avriett, first; Frank Newton, second; Roy Baskin, third Patsy McGregor, first; Regina Moseley, second; Helen Swift, third. In 7B: Joseph Miller, first. The flowers that we planted are coming up now.

We didn't get to have our hay-ride last Friday. The seventh graders that attended the Freshman party reported a good time.

We haven't any more 'cripples' this week, but those we have are still with us.

Giles, Roy and Ernest are the representatives from the seventh grade for the arithmetic contest.

Robert Crowell likes garlic. He carries it in his pocket so he can take a bite at recess.

This is the last week of the fourth term. Only two more terms of school. Report cards will be given out next week.

The baseball teams have not been chosen for the County Meet.

Start Railway Survey

With the beginning of the railroad survey from Fredericksburg, through Mason, to Brady and from Eden to San Angelo much attention will be attracted to that rich section of Texas and those towns should all profit greatly. It is a safe guess, too, that before this line is completed, the Southern Pacific will be seeking an extension of its Austin-Llano line to Mason to give that section a short haul to the Gulf.

Mississippi Lady Says She Felt Stronger, Better After Taking Cardui.

Greenwood, Miss.—Mrs. W. D. Taylor, of 1313 Carrollton Avenue, this city, has written of her use of Cardui as follows:

"About five years ago, I was in ill health. I suffered a great deal of pain in my sides and in the lower part of my body. I was weak and nervous, and at the least noise I felt like I must scream.

"At times I would have to go to bed. My head would ache. It would take me three or four days to get over these spells.

"A friend told me to take Cardui, which I did. After my first bottle, I saw some improvement. When I had taken three bottles, I felt stronger and better than I had in some time. I did not have any more of those bad spells.

"I certainly recommend Cardui."

Thousands of other women recommend Cardui, after having found it of valuable assistance to them in building up their health.

Cardui is a purely vegetable medicine, and contains nothing harmful. The medicinal value of the herbs from which Cardui is extracted have been well-known in the history of medicine for more than six hundred years.

Try it for your troubles. NC-220

INCONSISTENCY

Will H. Mayes, veteran newspaper man of Texas and editor of the 'Texas and Texans' column which appears in dozens of papers in the state, has a few words to say in a recent article about the 'home merchant' who preaches 'trade at home' and then spends his money for stationery and other supplies, which the home printer can furnish as good and as cheaply, from 'glib-talking, traveling salesmen.'

Mr. Mayes' article fits so exactly the condition prevailing in a few instances in Alpine that we can't let it go by without copying it in the Avalanche. We appreciate the fact that most of the Alpine merchants are loyal to all the home enterprises, including the newspaper, but we can name two or three at least of the most 'prominent' ones—those who preach the loudest and longest about trading at home and 'keeping Alpine money in Alpine' who are guilty of the very charge that Mr. Mayes, makes in his article.

Read Mr. Mayes' little article, think it over and decide if this 'trade at home' business should not be extended to include EVERY business in town. The newspaper does as much as any other one agency to build up the community, bring more people here and increase property values. It pays taxes, spends the money it makes here, contributes to the upkeep of the schools, churches, athletic programs and everything else that comes along in addition to the yards and miles of space given away free in its columns in boosting the town and community. Should we not be considered when 'keep Alpine money in Alpine' is being preached and demand the same consideration that the grocery stores, dry goods stores, confectioneries, and every other line of business in Alpine are demanding? We believe so. Here's Mr. Mayes' article—read it and think.

'Home Pride First. The citizen without pride in his own community has no pride in his state and mighty little patriotism. One's first duty is to home enterprises. An editor of one of Texas' best weekly newspapers—a man who has all his life given more time to work for his town and country than to his own financial interests—recently told me that some of the business concerns of his town that have much to say about 'mail order business' and who would boycott a citizen who orders goods in their line out of town, are getting their stationery and job printing from glib-talking, traveling salesmen, instead of buying it at home. Putting it down plainly, in terms that can't be misunderstood: The business that doesn't support in every possible way home enterprises, including the home printing plant, doesn't deserve support.'

Consistency, thou art a jewel!

News Of Seventh Grade

The poem 'Children's Hour' was read, then we told in our own words what the poem meant to us.

The Children's Hour

Just about dark, after the day's work is children's hour. Longfellow is in his room when he hears his children in the chamber overhead. Then the door opens and his three children come down the stairway. They rush into the room and climb on their father's chair and kiss him. Longfellow thinks how much he loves his children and how he always will love them.

Ralph Koepf.

The Children's Hour

In his poem Longfellow shows us how much he loves his children. He also tells us how happy and merry they are. The children slip into his room and climb upon his chair and shower him with kisses.

Howard Terry.

The Children's Hour

Longfellow was a lover of children and has expressed himself that way in many poems. But above all he loved his own children and, maybe to set an example for other children lovers he wrote this poem on how he has set aside an hour that he might enjoy being with his children and to show his love for them. He tells us that the hour for play is about twilight and that he expects some raid or trick. He carries the fun on with them but tells them how much he loves them. In a poetic way he says they are like bandits that have come to capture him but in turn he captures their hearts. He will love and keep them till he dies and his body turns to dust.

Ernest Sharpe.

The Children's Hour

There is a time in late evening when you should stop work, which is known as 'The Children's Hour.' Mr. Long fellow's children, Alice, Allegra and Edith, are coming down the stairs to surprise him. They enter his study through three doors and climb all over him and his chair. They kiss him and hug him. He says he is not a match for them and he says he will keep them till the walls go to ruin.

We read one of the greatest short stories ever written, 'The Whistle' by Benjamin Franklin. In our own words we told what the story meant to us.

The Whistle

From this story I get these good thoughts, 'Don't pay too much for your whistle,' which means, Don't pay too much for things that I do not need; not to give too much for things that I can get cheaper; to spend money for useful things.

Alton Key.

The Whistle

When Benjamin Franklin was 7 years old, the people in the town filled his pockets with coppers. He started to the shop that sold toys. On the way he saw a boy who had a whistle. The sound of it enchanted Benjamine Franklin and he offers all of his money for it. When he took it home, his sisters and brothers told him what good things he could have bought with the money. They told him that he paid four times too much for it. He got so stirred up about it that he cried. When he grew up he saved his money. When someone would go to sell him something, he would say, 'Don't pay too much for your whistle.' When he saw men who cared for popularity and fine clothes and homes with fine furniture he would say, 'Don't pay too much for your whistle.' When he saw a miser who would not help other people and gave up all of his comforts just to accumulate wealth he would say, 'You have paid very dear for your whistle.'

Vernon Mayfield.

We read the poem 'For Others' in class. Before discussing the poem each of us wrote a short paragraph telling what the poem meant to us.

For Others

As you live and grow older, build up things so that the younger ones coming after you may use them to build better characters. Then the world will be growing better every day. The old man in this poem did not expect to pass over his path again but he wanted to help others that would.

Dallas Criswell.

For Others

This is a beautiful poem and it may teach anyone a lesson if you wish to get one from it. Everyone should be like the old man, not like the fellow pilgrim. We should build bridges to help everyone, for we must come to many chasms in our life. This bridge the old man built is the bridge of help. You should not think of the welfare of yourself but the welfare of others. Try to build many bridges during your life time for others because it will help them greatly and when they see how grateful someone has been to them maybe they will build some bridges for others.

Helen Swift.

Last Friday the seventh grade had the finals in declamation. Patsy, Regina, Verna Beth, Roy, Frank and Giles are the winners to go against the other classes. We are counting on you to win.

We are having many interesting ball games now. The seventh grade boys played the Freshmen today but the score was 2 to 4 in favor of the Freshmen.

We had our hay ride Friday night. When we met at the park two trucks of hay were waiting for us. We rode around then came back to the park to eat sandwiches, fruit and soda water. A good time was reported by all.

Laddis was absent Monday.

Texas And Texans

Retiring Communities

When a man makes up his mind to retire from whatever he is doing he stops growing. In most cases he soon dies, for growth is essential to life. When, for any reason, he stops growing, he is soon retired, whether he would be or not, for a progressive people soon lose sight of those who stand still; and this is a progressive age.

Cities, towns and communities are subject to the same rule. When they quit all efforts at going forward, they appear to stand still for awhile but soon go into decay. No live man cares to cast his fortune and that of his family in such a place.

The wrecks of former progressive towns may be seen all around and in the wreckage there remain only those without enough enterprise to get away. The others have gone.

Headed Which Way?

Every place is just about what its people would have it. If a town is going forward, it is because its people are forward-going. Your community is merely what it is made by its citizens. A town does not need to be large to be progressive; a village may be made just as attractive, just as habitable, just as inviting to settlement as any city in Texas. Oftner than not a city block or city suburb is merely a collection of country or small-town people who have moved from their former homes to escape from the decay that was all about them.

There are a thousand or more places in Texas that are right at the turning point. Whether they progress or become ghosts of their former days is for their people to decide. Which way are you helping to head yours?

Newspapers Best Builders

Because they can go right into the homes of so many people on regular visits and talk to so many in whatever terms they will, local newspapers are the leading factors in the direction of town and community affairs. It is hard to measure their influence for good or bad. A discouraged citizenry; a hopeful, alert paped with a vision is an irrestible power in building up a like sentiment. The moral is: keep your newspaper encouraged, keep it going at high speed, don't let it lag for lack of support, either financial or moral. If your editor gets out a good paper, tell him so—not once, but frequently. If there is an editorial, an article or a feature in it that you like, let him know it. He needs backing, even some praise, and too often he fails to get either. I know from long experience.

Going After Fakers

The fake advertising schemer is going to have hard sailing in Seguin if the merchants take advantage of the recently adopted ordinance requiring all solicitors to obtain permits. When fakers learn that they have to get approval from a committee before they can do business in a town they pass it up. Perhaps Seguin merchants have learned that local newspaper advertising pays and that almost all other kinds is largely waste.

Overhead Expenses

Business men who look carefully into investments want to know the 'overhead' expenses. A law suit filed at San Antonio shows that half of all collections for an appealing memorial enterprise was to be paid the solicitors and collectors of the funds. In far too many 'reform' and 'charity' organizations, high powered collectors get far more than ever reaches the purpose for which it is given, and officials get the bulk of what is left. People would be far more liberal if only they could know that their gifts would not go to job holders.

DeWitt County's Wealth

Dairy products, poultry and eggs and tomatoes paid DeWitt county farmers $1,491,700 last year. With plenty of hogs, corn, oats, hay cattle, fruits and vegetables, it is easy to be seen that Dewitt farmers did not suffer even if the cotton crop was short and the price low.

Wisconsin Men Converted

A train load of Wisconsin men, including representatives of the department of agriculture and the secretary of the real estate brokers' board, visited Texas the last week in February going as far South as the Rio Grande Valley. They were surprised and delighted at what they saw and heard of this great state, and the result will likely be that the ban against Texas realtors will be removed.

They brought with them baggage cars containing Wisconsin products, such as cheese, condensed milk, grain, flour and Christmsa trees. Doubtless they learned while here that Texas is producing all these things and much more at far less expense than they can be produced in Wisconsin.

Wharton Hemp Factory

Wharton county farmers and business men have met all the requirements as to acreage of hemp to be pledged, site for mill, etc., and it is reported that a flax mill will be constructed right away, thus opening a new industry for Texas. Those back of the enterprise are certain that the lower Colorado river valley is well adapted to hemp culture.

Hatcheries Busy

Ten years ago there was not a commercial hatchery in all Texas. Now they are numerous and hundreds of thousands of baby chicks are hatched daily during the hatching season. The Floresville Chronicle-Journal states that there are five in Wilson county all running to full capacity.

Butter Plant Succeeds

The Hale County Dairy Association owns and has been operating a $30,000 butter plant at Plainview for 9 months. In that time it has shipped 428,435 pounds of butter and paid for butterfat and operating expenses $169,819 paying a naverage of 41.7 for No. 1 butterfat and 39.3 for No. 2. Eight hundred farmers belong to the association. Cream stations are maintained at three neighboring towns, from which cream is delivered daily. This is a splendid lesson for others in the advantages of co-operation.

Live On Home Products

A Henderson mercantile firm has sent letters to customers stating that about $1,000,000 is paid annually by Rusk county farmers for feed shipped into the county, paid for with low priced cotton. The firm urges a policy of growing this feed at home to stop the economic waste. In some places bankers and merchants are refusing credit unless farmers sign agreements to plant specified parts of their farms to feedstuffs, having found that the all-cotton farmer can not pay his debts from his crop.

Getting Gas Lines

Kerrville and Menard are two thriving 'Hill Country' cities that are preparing to use gas. Natural gas is no longer regarded as a luxury, and modern towns that can get it at areasonable price should hurry along the getting.

Pertinent Questions

Edna has been invaded by stationery and hosiery salesmen recently. This caused the Edna Herald to ask: 'We wonder how many of our business men patronized the foreign printer and how many of our people patronized the hose salesman? Also, we wonder if any Edna business houses dealing in hosiery bought stationery and what is their attitude toward the Edna citizen who bought hose from the foreign salesman? This matter of buying out of Edna is one that canwork both ways.' Merchants who do not patronize home enterprises can't reasonably expect home patronage.

BRING THE ADVANTAGES OF DEPENDABLE AND ECONOMICAL electric SERVICE ......

THE power transmission lines of the Texas Power & Light Company bring the comforts and conveniences of electric service to Texas homes in cities, towns and villages.

There is scarcely a household task which can not be done better and more quickly by electricity. From the time work begins in the home in the morning until it is finished at night electricity is the constant servant of the modern homemaker.

Transmission line electric service meets increasing needs of the modern home and business in a manner impossible to an isolated power plant.

Transmission line service is flexible and dependable, making possible more than one source of power supply to a community. It is economical, partaking of the economies of group management, together with the greater efficiency and skill possible in an organization with a diversified scope of activity.

The Texas Power & Light Company is the pioneer producer of transmission line electric service in Texas.

Children Cry for Fletcher's
CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the wrapper all these years just to protect the coming generations. Do not be deceived. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

Never attempt to relieve your baby with a remedy that you would use for yourself.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The County Newspaper

'The Country newspaper' a writer says, 'is becoming more and more a community newspaper—the community in the sense that towns and smaller cities from one to five thousand population are gradually spreading into the rural regions.

'The rural and interuban population have so much in common, with the telephone, rural mail, parcel post and better highways that they are more like one big neighborhood.

'More farmers are building homes in towns and smaller cities to give their children the advantages of high schools, colleges and business opportunities.

'In all lines of social development, the community newspaper is playing its part and is becoming more valuable property from an advertising standpoint and as a leading factor in the co-operative growth of city and country.'

Four hundred and thirty cities of the United States have adopted the city manager form of government.

The white men, said an Indian, criticised the Indian for scalping their enemies but the white men have no room to talk for the white man skins his friends.

A traveler stopped to change tires in a desolate region in the far west. 'I suppose,' he remarked to a native onlooker, 'that even in these parts of the country, the bare necessities of life has risen tremendously in price.' 'You're right, stranger,' replied the native gloomily, 'it ain't worth drinking when you get it.'

Marian Talley says that she would rather milk cows than sing. We believe that Miss Talley should have kept on singing and let some fellows who think they can sing, milk the cows.

They used to call the small places tank towns. Nowadays the way to give a more accurate conception of the smallness of a place is to say that it has but one filling stati

Whittier made the occasion of being snowbound the theme of a famous poem but being snowbound today merely means a lot of extra expense and inconvenience.

The good roads movement is in its infancy. The spirit of this country will not permit road building to stop until every community is touched by a surfaced road and every farm connected with an all weather road.

During a recent drive we came upon a town that we had never before visited. All the way along we looked vainly for something that might give the name of the town. There wasn't a sign of any kind. The road leading to the town was not marked. When we got to the town we had to drive down to the depot to read the name of the town on the depot. A lot of towns are just as poorly marked as is that one.

Most every editorial writer of the country has written a paragraph on the tragedy of the fall of Albert Fall. It is a tragedy when a man make the blunders that Fall did but it is no more a tragedy for Fall than it would be for any other person not so well known as Fall is. The loss of good name and reputation is the greatest tragedy that can come to a man be he rich or poor, unknown or great season the acreage was back almost to the high watermark of 1926. During the past few years, foreign countries have been growing more and more cotton until the world price has declined to an unremunerative figure.

In an emergency of this character, nothing that the Government can do can succeed without the assistance and coperation of the individual. Thoroughly aware of the plight of the farmer and in an effort to bring to agriculture some measure of the returns accruing to other lines of industry, Congress has passed the Farm Bill and the Farm Board is now functioning under this Act. It is becoming increasingly evident that the Board itself has in mind policies of far reaching significance but, in order to become effective, they must meet with cooperation on the part of the individual.

It is to the great mass of independent growers that the importance of acreage control must appeal in order to have any definite effect on the total output. Partial reduction in acreage by members of cooperative associations would not be sufficient to restore prices to a profitable level. Regardless of the action of those who are now cooperating under the activities of the Farm Board Agencies, each individual grower should feel called upon to weigh the whole subject carefully and be led to substitute a certain percentage of the land planted to cotton the past two years to other purposes. The Department of Agriculture has just pointed out a variety of ways in which the farmer can produce supplies needed for the farm and the home which are now purchased when they might easily be grown on the place. If the cotton grower will whole-heartedly unite with and support the Farm Board in its program to limit production of certain crops through diversification of farming activity, the road will be opened to substantially improved agricultural prospects.

Very truly yours,
J. W. JAY & CO.

year, Miss Mollie Moore, who received a certificate from the Legioneers which now occupies a prominent place in the capitol at Austin. For the past two years splendid club Year Books have been made. The one for this year bears a beautiful hand-painted cover in green and gold, club colors, and a large yellow chrysanthemum, the club flower, the handy work of Miss Mollie Moore.

Two years ago Miss Ann Stallworth was elected as State Treasurer of the B. & P. W. Clubs of Texas, and last year was unanimously re-elected to her second term, which she is now serving.

Ada M. Forry, National Gift Chairman of the Lena Madesin Phillips Building Fund for the Federated Business and Professional Women's Clubs, notified Miss Stallworth early this winter that she had been appointed as Gift Chairman for the State of Texas. Each state has a Gift Chairman who have been asked to meet at Richmond, July 1931, when a definite financial plan may be worked out to purchase and establish a National Headquarters at Washington, D. C., for the Federated B. & P. W. Clubs.

Of course, it will depend upon the size of the fund as to how rapidly the national committee can move forward. The State of Texas has been pledged for $350 which will be called the Florence Sands Memorial Fund. Cameron club has paid her pledge to the fund.

Green table covers and score pads and tallies in Irish design were reminders of the approaching St. Patrick's Day. Miss Bill Fontaine made high score for the games and Mrs. Earl Burke, low, and they were awarded toilet accessories in the chosen color.

Following the games, the hostess served white and green brick cream and individual cakes iced in green. Rose Marie glassware made a pretty contrast with the green trays, which were used for serving. Table favors, which centered the trays, were novelty dolls dressed in ruffled green costumes. They were won by Mesdames Earl Burke, Penn Wolf and W. D. Bigbee.

Spring Flowers Add To Color Of St. Patrick Party Decorations

One of the most beautifully appointed of the series of St. Patrick's parties that have been given was that of Tuesday afternoon when Miss La Verne Bowmer entertained with bridge at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Kemp. Spring flowers in a variety of colors relieved the green which predominated in the table covers, score pads, markers and tallies.

Mrs. A. J. Triggs made high score among the eight tables of players and Mrs. A. H. Baskin was low. They were presented a large and a small print of 'The End of the Trail.'

Further carrying out the chosen motif was the collation which was offered the guests on trays centered with green hats filled with shamrock candy, the latter going as table favors. A green congealed salad, lime ice, and green shamrock sandwiches added color to the plates.

Miss Carroll Easley of Rosebud and Mrs. Swift of Gardiner, Maine, were out of town guests.

Rapid Expansion Of Used Car Market

Detroit, March 12.—An indication of the rapid expansion of the used car market and an assurance of a brightening business outlook was revealed in an announcement by the Chevrolet Motor Company today that Winter sales of used cars by the nation-wide Chevrolet dealer organization are exceeding by more than twenty-five per cent the best previous winter record.

Despite the extremely cold and stormy weather in the northern states in January and adverse weather conditions in some other sections, sales of used cars by Chevrolet dealers during the month totaled 60,000 cars as compared with the January record of 48,000 established last year.

A quickening of general business and unusually mild weather in February assured a new record for that month even though final figures for the first twenty days of February show an increase of 54.4 per cent over the corresponding period of February last year. During the first 20 days of February 1930, the Chevrolet dealer organization sold 58,922 used cars, nearly equalling in 20 days the record month of January. The stature of the February achievement may be further appreciated by a comparison of this figure with 38,176 used cars sold during the corresponding period of February last year.

In commenting on the achievement, officials pointed out that it was made possible through the public confidence that has been built up by Chevrolet dealers through the general policy of offering for sale only dependable merchandise. They explain that through the widespread use of the red tag 'with an O. K. that counts,' prospective used car buyers are assured that every vital part of the car has been properly reconditioned and put in shape to offer thousands of miles of unused transportation.

Achieving Success In Business

A book to interest young, wide-awake, ambitious people—to inspire them to higher things in life—is 'Achieving Success in Business.' In this book illustrated with actual pictures of successes, the author has kept in mind that youth has a limitless ambition, that young men and young women reach for the stars, that they are hungry, insatiable for life with its rich experiences and sensations, that, for youth, life in all its fullness lies AHEAD.

It has been long known that the biggest incomes and the richest opportunities are to be found in the field of business that young men and young women often achieve greater success before they are thirty than many men achieve in other callings in a life time. But, so far as any one knows, few books have been written telling why. 'Achieving Success in Business' is one of the few.

The courses which are known to equip young people best for any position the business world offers are explained in the helpful book. Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration is the publisher of this book—the school that has used much care in choosing its faculty, its courses and its system of teaching. All of thees are discussed in the book, 'Achieving Success In Business.' Reasons are given why the graduates of the Private Secretarial, General Business, General Railroad, General Western Union, General Civil Service, General Cotton Classing, Radio, Penmanship, and many other courses are leaders and where the leaders are.

Tyler Commercial College wants every ambitious person to read 'Achieving Success in Business.' It is to your interest to send for the book if you want a good position; if you want to be well on the road to success long before you are thirty; if you want to accomplish all this in half the usual time and at less expense. Just send the coupon printed below for the big, helpful illustrated book. It's free, send now.

KONJOLA WINS TRIUMPHS EVERY DAY EVERYWHERE

NEW AND DIFFERENT MEDICINE WELCOMES ANY TEST—RESULT IS WHAT COUNTS

Results are what count; mere words and promises mean nothing. Konjolo has won fame and friends just by making good, and that is the medicine sufferers want and should have. Imagine the joy of Mr. Raymond Schmidt, R. F. D. No. 1, Sedalia, Mo., when he was able to say:

'Though I know it to be true I find it hard to believe Konjola in just 3 months, ended my sufferings of nine years duration. For that long time I suffered from indigestion, constipation, kidney trouble and catarrh. No food agreed with me; every night I had to get up numerous times, and the catarrh certainly added to my misery. In those nine years I tried no end of medicine and treatments, and everyone was a mierable failure. But how different with Konjola. Week by week I grew better, and in three months I was my old self again. To me Konjola is the most wonderful medicine in the world, and I recommend it with all my heart.'

Konjola is sold in Cameron at Geo. A. Thomas & Son Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

MRS. TERRY WILEY HOSTESS TO FRIENDS AT BRIDGE

Another in the series of delightful St. Patrick parties being given this month was one last Thursday evening at which Mrs. Terry Wiley was hostess. Tallies, score cards, napkins and other appointments were in the Irish motif, and spring flowers wee used to advantage in the rooms where the tables were placed for games of bridge.

High score awards, a deck of cards for ladies and a necktie for gentlemen were won by Mrs. Eulan Wiley and Mr. Charlie Nabours.

Following the games, the hostess served ambrosia topped with whipped cream, cake squares, and salted nuts. Green trays were used and they were centered with bowls of narcissi and violets.

Those enjoying the hospitality were Mrs. Russell Wine of San Antonio, Mrs. Flint Sorrell of Mission, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Nabours, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patillo, Mr. and Mrs. Eulan Wiley and Miss Dulcie McCall.

for FURNITURE and FLOORS

SMILING floors and cheery furniture are merely a matter of surface appearance. Your floors, if they are properly refinished, will look just as nice as the floors in a new house and your furniture, under similar treatment, will rival the pieces in the furniture store windows.

The change is very easy to accomplish with LOWE BROTHERS NEPTUNITE VARNISH STAIN for it stains and varnishes at one stroke of the brush. It colors all of the cuts, scratches and marks making the surface uniform and it brings out the beauty of the wood grain.

Neptunite Varnish Stain is very easy to use. It stains and varnishes at the same time and it comes in a variety of pleasing colors.

Gause Community News

Mr. John Walston died Sunday morning about five-thirty o'clock after several years of ill health. Mr. Walston had been very ill for several weeks. He was an old citizen of the Gause community and had many friends. He was eighty-one years of age. We extend our sympathy to the grieved ones. The funeral services were held at the Baptist church Monday morning at ten o'clock officiated by Rev. Kendell, pastor of the Baptist church. A host of out of town relatives were present. Among them were Mrs. Mulenix of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Jones of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Walston of Hearne Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walston and Hubert Walston of Houston, Miss Mabel Walston of Rosenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Limb Walston of Hearne, Mr. and Mrs. Henson and Mr. and Mrs. Henderson of Branchville.

Rev. Kendell, pastor of the Baptist church met with a group of junior B. Y. P. U. boys Saturday afternoon and enjoyed a social. It was decided that the boys would have a social once a month. The next one will be the second Saturday in April.

The Gause girls' basket ball team attended the tournament at Cameron on Friday and Saturday. They won second place. The team this year holds the best record any team has ever made here. They played seven games and lost only one, that was to Rockdale in the last round at the tournament. The score then was 25 to 16. Both teams played exceedingly well and the game was tighter than the score really indicates. At the end of the first quarter the score was 4 to 5, Rockdale leading; at the half it was 10 to 11, Gause leading. Teams defeated by Gause this year are Milano, Yarrelton, Buckholts, Fox and Cameron. The players were Leasie, Lottie and Gertrude Hauptfleisch, Eleanor Cook, Jessie Pharis, Winona Mae Vaughn, Lois Roper, Beadie Kilpatrick, Opal Carrol and Eula Faye Hafley. The coach was Mrs. Arthur Bowling. The team has an invitation to attend a meeting of a number of teams in Waco to play soon. Arrangements are being made for the team to be taken and shown 'a time of their life.'

The junior boys basket ball team also played at the tournament. They played a good game but were defeated 14 to 17 by Sharp.

Practice is now being started in tennis and indoor baseball. We hope they prove to be as good in these and also for a volley ball team.

UNIQUE MOTIF IS FEATURE OF ENTERTAINMENT WITH MRS. O. M. SMITH HOSTESS

Unique in every detail was the party given last Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Oxsheer Smith, when she entertained members of the 42 Club. When the guests arrived, they were given an idea of the unusual motif when they noticed a torn down truck and a partially wrecked car on the lawn with a washing and greasing sign near by. These cars proved inspiration for innumerable telephone calls during the afternoon. A placard on the door informed arrivals that they could get free air and water inside.

The reception rooms presented the appearance of a filling station with an adjoining lunch counter, the latter having been fashioned at the French doors leading into the dining room. There was an immense automobile casing in the hall; pictures of cars were on every wall; and the with automobile accessories instead of customary knick-knacks.

Tallies and score pads were in automobile design, and instead of ringing a bell at the end of the games the winners were given an automobile horn to sound. 84 favors were miniature cars and tools.

After the games the guests were invited, one table at a time, into the dining room, where Miss Aetna Smith and Mrs. Swift of Gardiner, Maine gave them their choice of No-Nox or Ethyl gasoline, hot tea, or iced punch. They then served themselves buffet style to hamburgers, sandwiches, dill pickles and candied orange peel, and returned to their tables, which in the meantime had been covered with crepe paper luncheon cloths on which were pasted pictures of cars.

BAPTIST W. M. S.

W. M. S. members of the county met at the Cameron church Monday at ten o'clock to take a study course. Mrs. J. C. Martin taught the book 'Things We Should Know.' There were representatives present from Burlington, Little River and Milano. Lunch was served in the Sunday school annex at noon.

10:30 . . . and the Boy from the Drug Store hadn't Arrived

Four people were in the living room playing bridge.

When 10:30 came and the boy from the drug store hadn't arrived with the ice cream, Mrs. Barnard began to get nervous.

The Randalls, recent neighbors, both murmured something polite about "having to go".

"Don't rush off, please," said Mrs. Barnard. "I'll call and see what's the matter."

So she called Mr. Carter, the druggist, and the boy came over right away.

It was embarrassing though, to have to go into details from the telephone in the hall, when they could overhear every word she said.

Telephones around the house where you need them do help.

Had there been an "extension" in the back hall, say, Mrs. Barnard could have conversed in comparative privacy.

Few know that the extra cost of one or two "extensions" is somewhat less than that of the single telephone they now have.

By a wisely-placed "extension" or two, and perhaps a rearrangement of the equipment you already have, an expert telephone man can often double the convenience of the telephones in your home.

It was embarrassing, though . . .

"What Happened in a Home Night of Paul Revere's Ride"

By RUBY NICHOLSON
Seventh Grade Maysfield Student

It was after supper in the big white house on the corner of Washington Avenue and Brotherton Street, Kettleton. All had finished their chores and were sitting around the fire in the big fireplace. The younger children were talking of the happenings in school. Mary said, 'We had Paul Revere's Ride in our English lesson today. I like the poems, they are by Henry W. Longfellow.'

'Grand father, you were not living then were you?' asked little Jim.

'Yes my boy, I was thirty-five years old,' answered grandfather.

'Do you remember when Paul Revere knocked at your door?' asked Marguerite.

'He did not knock, did he mother?' this question was asked of his wife. In olden days the husband called his wife mother, and the wife called her husband father.

'No he did not. I will never forget that noise. Father why do you not tell the children the story?' asked grandmother.

'Why I had never thought of it.'

'Oh, please do grandfather,' cried all the children at once.

'Drand faver, peas,' said little Jo and Ben, the twins, as they each took a place on grand father's knee.

'It was about one o'clock when I heard a noise like thunder.'

'What was the noise?'

'Why my boy it was the horse's hoofs that hit on my portico. I was a Minute Man and had been training for weeks. I grabbed my gun and ran to the front door. In the moon light I saw a man on a horse. He had on the Minute Man uniform and shouted, 'The British are coming to attack Concord and Lexington, by sea,' and galloped away. I ran back in the house to put on my clothes, while mother made a light and I heard a fine gentleman, your father, over there, who was then a baby, crying. Mother told Josephine, (the one you are named after, little Jo) to go pick up the baby so he would not cry, though I saw tears in her own eyes as she fixed things for me. Mother told Pauline to put up a lunch for me and Tom to go and saddle Prince. When I started to leave I called for my powder horn and I must have the saddle bags filled with a few clothes and a good lunch. Mother went into another room when she heard me call to tell her good bye. I heard her say, 'Oh, can I let him go, I may never see him again,' but when she came into the room she was smiling and then she kissed me goodbye. When I left all were crying except mother and the baby, it had fallen asleep. I kissed it and crying 'good bye,' speeded away on my horse. It sure was hard to leave such a good home and one who tried so hard to keep me from knowing that she was worried.'

After telling this story grandfather felt sad and giving the twins to their mother to put to bed, for they were asleep, he went over and kissed his wife and the two old people went to their room to bed.

ENGLISH DIVINE HEALER VISITS TEXAS MARCH 19

STOPS AT TEMPLE

Crowds gather wherever he comes to see this wonderful man who has helped so many in his life-time Cripples come from far and near many with crutches that they hope to discard; scores flock to him suffering with one affliction or another. They bring their troubles to him, their misfortune, their losses, their business reverses, their sorrows, their heart-aches, their tales of ill-fate, (the unkind world) their bereavements, and ask his advice; ask him to help them; to make life easier for them, to show them what has been accomplished for so many unfortunates before them, when nothing before seemed to help and bring success, happiness, comfort and prosperity into their homes.

This gifted man, a minister, was led to the discovery of the hidden secret of the Bible Healing that healed the multitudes in Bible Times, and as the seventh son spoken he loves to see this same Bible means of healing, raise up the sick and unfortunate today, and teach them how they too may reach up to the good things of life and again enjoy the priceless God given blessings to man of health, happiness, long life, prosperity and plenty.

That he says, is the divine wish that all should receive and enjoy just as in the blessed times of the Bible Period.

Read the thankful words—See Bible Healing at work today.

Gall Stones—

'I was a terrible sufferer from a complication of diseases—I had gall stones, kidney trouble, catarrh, despondency and was on the verge of collapse. I made up my mind to try this healing. I was practically healed 'at the first visit.'—(Signed) Mrs. Mary Allen, 508, 7th Ave., Peoria, Ill.

Diarrhoea—

'After fifty years suffering with chronic diarrhoea, indigestion and intestinal trouble contracted in the summer of 1863, while in Camp Berry, at Washington, D. C., have been completely healed 'of my disease by Rev. Hawkins,' and have been ever since.—(Signed) A. H. Evans, 1224 Oak Ridge Ave., Pekin ,Ill.

Rheumatism—

'I am pleased to announce that Rev. Hawkins has healed me of my Rheumatism from which I had suffered awfully for many years. He has also healed my son of epilepsy (fits) from which I never expected him to recover. I know of many other sick people this doctor has also healed."

(Signed) Ben Allen, Mason City, Ill.

Stomach Trouble—

'After ten years of the worst kind of stomach trouble and Insomnia (sleeplessness), I have been healed and restored back to health again.'

'I am eighty-six and although I don't understand it I feel like a new woman.'—(Signed) Margaret A. Jobe, 1207 N. Main St., Decatur, Ill.

Volumes could not speak all this grand man has done for the sick and distressed in mind, body or in business matters. How many has he shown the way out of their troubles, whatever they may have been. How many has he shown the way out of their ailments and disease, they may have been called, how many has he taught to be well and happy, successful and prosperous when poverty and sickness and sorrow were knocking at their door.

Whatever your trouble you should certainly see this grand Englishman, who has done so much for so many before you. He makes no charge for his services. People can give him whatever they want towards his traveling expense—little or much, that rests with you.

He declares that healing of sickness may be accomplished today as two thousand years ago, under the same conditions—he will point out the condition that must be observed. then universal healing is possible, he says.

Hear this grand talk on the greatest subject ever talked upon—See this [illegible] man about your diseases.

The healer will be at the Stegall Hotel, Temple, Texas, all day Wednesday, March 19th, and will listen to all the troubles of the sick and unfortunate from early to late this one day only; regardless of weather.

Everyone in need is welcome to come.

CLEANUP PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED BY MAYOR

ANNUAL CIVIC CAMPAIGN FOR CAMERON FOR MARCH 30 TO APRIL 5TH

It has become an established practice in every wide awake community to clean house in the Spring of the year.

Much of our cleaning is due to a desire to make everything attract yet there is another important reason why our efforts in that direction should be thorough and complete. I refer to fire and disease prevention, and it is to that feature of the S[illegible] Clean-Up activities that I am directing the attention of our people at this time.

Safety from fire and disease is a matter of supreme importance. Wherever there is dirt and disorder there is danger. A pile of trash may start a conflagration; a few ill-kept homes, dirty yards or stagnant pools may easily become the source of an epidemic. There is a marked similarity between fire and disease hazards. They have a common cause—dirt and carelessness. They have a common cure—constant care to prevent their existence.

Now, Therefore, I, W. W. Chambers, Mayor of the city of Cameron, do hereby disignate the period from March 30 to April 5 (inclusive), as Spring Clean-Up Week in Cameron, and I call upon every man, woman and child to dillingently observe the occasion by clearing away all things that menace our safety from fire or the public health.

I suggest to housekeepers that they begin in the attic and remove everything from the home that has outlived its day of usefulness. And, when that task has been completed, turn attention to the yard, garage and outhouses.

I call upon every business man to thoroughly inspect his buildings and premises, removing therefrom rubbish and other combustible materials that may have accumulated during the winter season.

This Spring Clean-Up Campaign should be carried into every section of the city, and the time to begin making preparations for it is now.

Let us enter actively into the work and thereby contribute to the safety, health and happiness of ourselves and our neighbors.

Given under my hand and seal of office, this the 12th day of March, A. D., 1930.

W. W. CHAMBERS, Mayor.

Drain Tile "Logs" Used as Building Material

A "log house" in which the "logs" are formed by common red drain pipe tile has been built in Kingsville, Ontario, Canada. Charles Miner, who erected the unique dwelling, chose tile for the material because it provides dead-air space in the walls to protect the interior from cold in winter and heat in summer.

The house stands on a foundation of concrete blocks, except for the porch and steps, which are supported by the tiles. A wooden framework, sheathed with boards in the usual manner, was first erected and the tile "logs" were laid in courses like brick veneer up the sides. At corners, the ends of the tiles overlap in crisscross fashion, much as old logs in the cabins of pioneer days. Where the ends of the logs are exposed, they are closed with cement colored to match. This insures dead-air space and prevents birds and squirrels from entering.

The cost of the unusual house is said to have been moderate as compared with the cost of the conventional wood or brick home.—Popular Science Monthly.

Early Man Had Faith in Arrow Divination

Long ago, in the most high and far off times, primitive man resorted to the making of magic to determine what course to pursue in the vast wilderness of his ancient world, writes Catherine Hargrave in the Boston Transcript. Arrow divination was a favored kind. To make this magic a circle was drawn on the ground with the proper rites and incantations and divided into the Four Directions. With more mystic ceremony arrows were cast into the ring and upon the manner of their falling depended the future.

The American Indians did this as well as the Asiatic peoples, and in both countries gaming sticks resembling arrows, sometimes with actual feathered shaftments and sometimes with the feathers painted upon them, were used to play a game much like the older magical processes, with a circle on the ground, divided into four or eight parts.

Cats Once Deified

Egyptian deification of the cat, says the Golden Book Magazine, has been traced as far back as four thousand years, and for many centuries the bodies of favorite cats were carefully embalmed and interred near the temple of Bubastis, the cat-faced goddess of Beni Hasan or of Heliopolus. One of the strangest archeological discoveries was that which disclosed the mummies of thousands of cats near the tomb of Beni Hasan recently.

Whether the domesticated cat is a native of Egypt is not known, but the first mention of the cat in China was as recent as 400. The cat also was unknown in Europe until just before the Christian era.

Character Comes First

Music, of all the arts, touches most widely on things which are humanly interesting; and if you shut out the knowledge of what is interesting in your fellow human beings, how is your art going to grow? Art, like many other things, gets it food from outside, and it is a mistake to suppose that it can feed exclusively on itself. And art is always interwoven with character, and we have even frequently to observe that character counts for more in the end than natural gifts of any kind, whether artistic or literary.—From "Hubert Parry His Life and Works," by Charles L. Graves.

Moon Viewed From Vessel

The Naval observatory says that the change in an observer's position from day to day on an ocean trip would affect the moon's apparent position so slightly as to be scarcely noticeable—that is, the moon's local time of rising would change from day to day just about as it would if the observer were stationary. However, if the rising of the moon were timed by a watch keeping for instance, Eastern standard time, the speed of the ship might be such that the risings on successive nights would be at approximately the same watch time.

Tree Saved by Washington

The American Forestry association says that the Washington oak in Audubon park, New Orleans, La., is famous for its beauty, its name, the number of annual visitors and its size. It is said to have acquired its name in the following fashion: President Washington was visiting a family by the name of Horry. At dinner Mr. Horry noticed that a tree obstructed his view and gave orders that it should be cut down. Washington heard this and objected. The tree was not cut down and has since been known as the Washington oak.

Cook Books in Story Form

To put over their message in the most pleasing guise, cook books once were written in story form or as a collection of letters, as in "Letters to a Young Housekeeper." Among such cook books was one entitled "Gentle Breadwinners." The heroine passes through various adventures in which she makes french icing, venetian cakes, mince meat, candied orange and lemon peel until, as the climax, she wins, by means of her good cooking, a home and a husband.—Detroit News.

Getting Out of the Rut

Every car driver knows that when a car gets into the rut on a deeply rutted road that it is very difficult to get out of the rut.

It is difficult for a human being who gets into a rut to make the necessary changes and adjustments to get out of the rut and to about face and start out on a new track.

Towns, like individuals, get into a rut and drift along in the same old way until everyone gets the feeling that it is no use to attempt to do anything to change conditions in the town.

This is an unfortunate condition. As a rule it is unnecessary. All that it requires for a car to get out of the rut is to turn aside in another direction.

All that it requires for a human being to get out of the rut is to turn aside and take up a new course of action and enter new fields of endeavor.

All that it requires for a town to get out of the rut is for the people of the town to begin believing that the town does not have to continue in the rut. To get the vision that there is a future, and that changes for the better are possible.

The first step is to formulate a plan and then get everyone behind the plan and carry out the program.

Cameron can lay out a plan and a program that will be a step further along the road of progress, a definite goal and mark and then work toward it.

If we reach it a new goal should be set. Cameron should have some definite aim for achievement before it each year and work together to accomplish that particular objective.

Convention Of Feed Dealers Attended By Alvin Mondrik

'As there is a constant cash market for the farmer for milk, cream, chickens, eggs, lamb, pork and by the sale of these he is able to pay cash for his feed, tools, farm implements, seeds and other commodities, it is naturally the one-crop farmer who is now suffering the most desperate financial condition. Naturally, the farmer who has this ready cash coming in regularly can pay cash for what he buys and thereby get a lower price on his purchases.'

During the convention Alvin Mondrik of Mondrik Brothers said, emphasis was put on new merchandising ideas which will help Southern feed dealers render better service to the feeders of poultry and livestock in their communities. It was pointed out by the various speakers durin the convention that only by receiving cash can the dealer help the feeder in getting the most from his money. A feed dealer, he said, cannot lend money as cheaply as a bank, and it stands to reason that credit purchases cost the customer more than cash buying. 'Merchants' said Mr. Mondrik, 'are giving their customers who pay cash advantage of a lower price per ton for the prompt payment of bills.'

The convention, attended by several hundred aggressive, Texas feed dealers, was one of a series promoted by the Ralston Purina Company for the purpose of assisting the dealers in taking a prominent part in relieving the farmer of financial distress. Besides the business sessions, entertainment was furnished Thursday night at a banquet for the dealers, during which a musical program was given.

Solution of the farm relief problem will come from the farmers of the United States themselves, rather than from any governmental aid, according to W. H. Ranforth of St. Louis, founder of the Ralston Purina Company, who was one of the principal speakers during a record-breaking convention of Texas feed dealers sponsored by that organization February 20 and 21 at Fort Worth. Mr. Mondrik returned today from the convention which he stated was the most enthusiastic ever held under the sponsorship of the Ralston Purina Company.

'Application of business methods to farming will bring the surest relief to those engaged in the agricultural industry,' Mr. Danforth stated during his talk. 'The use of accurate records on all livestock and poultry is absolutely essential for the farmer of today. In this way only can he detect the profit-makers or the profit-takers in his herds of cattle and hogs and his flocks of poultry. By careful checking on each animal and bird on his place he can cull out and use only the high producers and money makers.

'Carrying the business attitude of today further into farming,' Mr. Danforth continued, 'the farmer has learned that the steady cash income from diversified agriculture is one of his chief helps. This is especially true in the South, where it was formerly thought only cotton could be produced profitably. These men are now turning to dairying, poultry raising, and hog raising to supplement their farm income. Within the past five years millions have been spent in the erection of milk condensories, cheese factories, creameries, poultry fattening plants and in some cases packing houses, which provide markets for surplus products of the cow, pig and hen.'

Philco Radio Leading Field In Production Popular Equipment

The Philco Radio according to J. T. Parma local dealer, has moved from 29th place to second place in production in 1929 and for the past six months has led the field in production. This popular set is being sold and serviced here by Mr. Parma.

'Since last June when Philco definitely and agressively set out to win leadership in the radio industry, Philco has outsold the entire field,' said Mr. Parma. This is an interesting development in the field of radio set production. The Philco is proving its popularity and leadership over the nation and here in the Cameron territory Mr. Parma has been able to make a splendid showing with this marvelous set.

In the shop of Joe J. Parma, service man for the agency here will be found a most interesting display of equipment for servicing the sets. A testing board, made by Mr. Parma and the only one of its kind in existence gives him equipment for this work that is very efficient and all sufficient for every need in giving service and making repairs on all makes of sets.

NEW GUSHER COMES IN TAYLOR OIL FIELD

SCONYERS WELL MAY BE 2000 BARREL PRODUCER IN NEW TEXAS FIELD

(Taylor Press)

Hopes of people all over this section and dreams of the drillers themselves on the Sconyers-Wilson Abbott No. 1 were realized Monday when the well with terrific pressure blew in at five o'clock Monday morning, after having belched forth oil and gas mud since drilling was stopped yesterday afternoon shortly after three o'clock. The bit barely topped the pay dirt, at 1782 feet, it was announced and when tanks and proper facilities are completed, the hole may be made deeper.

Thousands of people were on hand yesterday at the scene of operations which is located across a 50-acre tract northeast of the discovery well, after reports had been widely circulated the well would come in Sunday. An eager crowd pressed close to the mouth of the control valve watching the slime and oil pushed out by the gas pressure throughout yesterday afternoon. Not only Williamson county represented, but delegations from the surrounding cities came to view the well's activity.

The well has not been opened up as yet, the drill stem having never been removed, and it is thought mud still chokes down the pressure. Despite these handicaps the control valve is opened at intervals and at one time, about 10:45 this morning, when it was opened, oil shot across the first pit into the second, a distance of about 40 feet or more. Some have estimated the flow at 1000 barrels a day and upwards. Many oil men maintain it will be better than the first well.

It is expected no attempt will be made to turn the well loose at full speed until storage tanks have been completed. Workmen have started on the foundation for two 1000 barrel steel tanks located a few hundred feet northeast of the well, and a pipe line connection has been laid from the well to the site of these tanks.

The mud and slime in the first pit adjoining the derrick has been forced into the next pit so that the former may be used as a temporary storage place for the oil which has been produced thus far.

The oil now being produced is said by drillers to be approximately of the same gravity as that being produced by the discovery well.

Business Women's Club Has Interesting History; Celebrate National Week

By DELPHYA SCOTT

The Cameron Business and Professional Women's Club was organized five years ago as a fun-loving club with Miss Susan Pope as chairman; later Ann Stallworth was elected as club president, serving one year. It was then the club was known as the Business and Professional Women's Club. Miss Rose Rischar was the second president, and it was during her administration the club federated. Mrs. Meta McCown was the next president and Mrs. Gladys M. Watson is president at this time.

Members at first met at appointed places some times at the Country Club and frequently in the home of Mrs. Bessie Louise Hefley, a member, and at suitable seasons gathered in open air at various places. After the election of Mrs. Watson as president, the Texas Water Company offered the use of their new offices to the club for regular meetings, and many delightful evenings have been spent in this pleasant place.

The club has been recognized by the Chamber of Commerce, the Legioneers and other civic clubs, named the Cameron Princess to represent Milam County at the East Texas Chamber of Commerce that met last year at A. & M. College, have been hostess to the County Institute when they entertained all the county teachers, entertained the local teachers, have aided two girls and one boy in securing a commercial education.

Among the many delightful entertainments are two 'Bosses Banquets,' sponsored four plays, entertained the club State President, Miss Daisy Leake, and have taken part in a number of civic affairs. Their major project for this year is the beautifying the City Park with Mrs. L. Bigbee as chairman of the work.

The club has been represented at three State conventions: Mineral Wells, San Antonio and Temple, and sent one of its presidents, Miss Rose Rischar, to the National Convention when held at New Orleans.

Several honors have fallen to the club since federating, receiving state and national recognition. Mrs. Nina C. Wilkerson was appointed State Legislative Chairman the first year; Miss Delphya Scott was appointed Assistant State Publicity Chairman with six cities in her district; and received honorable mention of her club book of publicity for the club last year at state convention at Temple.

The club bears the distinction of having as a member the person whom Legioneers elected as the most worthy citizen of Cameron in a contest last

Yoemen Get Work In Initial Game

On Tuesday afternoon a picked team under the leadership of Wm. R. Rogers played the Yoe High school a seven inning game at the Lawless Green Field which resulted in a 12 to 3 score for the Rogerites. Many changes were made on both sides during the fray.

Miss Gladys Davis,student at Baylor University, was at home last week end to spend the holidays at the end of the second quarter of school. She brought wit hher as her guest her roommate, Miss Elizabeth Williams of Forrest City, Arkansas. Mr. and Mrs. Judd Davis and son John, took them back to Waco Sunday by automobile.

Mrs. J. W. Kemp came home from Taylor for a few days this week.

Mrs. G. C. McLeod of Lyons spent Monday in Cameron with her son, R. G. McLeod and Mrs. McLeod.

Finance Secretary For Methodist Church

Rev. John Wesley Ford, who for several years has been a student at Southwestern University, Georgetown, has been secured as financial secretary and general assistant to the pastor of the Methodist church for the remainder of this year. He comes very highly recommended by those who know him best as an examplory young man and his coming will mean a great deal to the work of the church. He is expected to arrive Saturday of this week. He will make his home at the Methodist parsonage.

An Urgent Appeal to Cotton Planters For an Acreage Cut

With world's consumption of American cotton approximately half a million bales below the first six months of last season while domestic figures will be compelled to run against a monthly average of 616,000 during the second half of the year, indications point to a considerable increase in the carryover on July 31, compared with a year ago. As curtailment is still in force among American mills and the export movement continues to run behind last season to the extent of over 600,000 bales, liquidation of both contracts and spot cotton weakened the position, carrying spot prices in New Orleans more than a cent below the Farm Board lending figure at that port.

The planting season is rapidly approaching and this whole subject of the amount of land to be given over to cotton should receive the earnest consideration of every cotton grower in the South. When prices declined to 10c and 12c a pound under the record acreage of nearly 49,000,000 and the record production of 18,000,000 bales in 1926, planters cut acreage 10 per cent to 15 per cent the following spring. This not only brought about a smaller yield but caused a profitable readjustment of the price level and resulting returns to the producer. Acreage was steadily increased during the two succeeding years until last

NEW HIGHWAY SOUGHT FOR THIS SECTION

COMMITTEE IS NAMED ON CAMERON TO GEORGETOWN PROPOSED ROUTE

A new highway for Milam county giving road connection with a large area of the state is proposed and a committee has been named from the commercial club to work out the details in conjunction with committees from other towns interested.

The new highway would run from Cameron to Georgetown, a more direct route probably from Cameron to Sharpe and Davilla and to Granger and from there to Georgetown.

This matter was brought to the attention of the Commercial Club on Monday night when Secretary W. M. Cobb read a letter from A. B. Smith of Granger, asking for a meeting with the good roads committee and others interested in the project. Accordingly on Monday the meeting was held at the Cameron State Bank and Giles L. Avriett of the good roads committee reported the results of this meeting to the club on Monday night.

On the suggestion of Mr. Avriett a banquet has been arranged for Monday night, March 17 in the basement of the Methodist church at which time delegations from the towns interested in the highway will be entertained.

The visitors present at this meeting were: A. B. Smith, Granger; Chester Cocke, Friendship; H. H. Camp, San Gabriel ;F. W. Worley, Duncan; Emil Fick, Sharp.

Mr. Avriett moved that a committee of three be appointed to solicit the attendance of the officers, directors and committee chairmen of the club and all other interested citizens who would attend.

President Jackson appointed the following on this committee: J. C. Young, T. S. Henderson, Jr., and G. L. Avriett. The Secretary was authorized to arrange for the banquet.

Attention was called to the importance of the cotton acreage reduction movement and the secretary was asked to have lists prepared and left at several stores for signing, and to offer the list for publication in local papers.

Health Features Sell Electric Refrigerators

The electric refrigerator is probably more capable of increasing the health and happiness of the American family, than any other recent invention for the household.

A few years ago little thought was given to refrigeration by homemakers. Almost any nook or corner, cooler, in even the slightest degree than the outside temperature was deemed a satisfactory storage place for even the most perishable refrigerators.

According to Mr. Glenn Flinn of the Texas Power and Light Company agents for the General Electric Refrigerator, one of their first discoveries was that harmful bacteria developed with great rapidity in foods stored in a temperarute above 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

'Destructive bacteria is present in foods at all times,' he continued, 'and it requires only warmth and moisture to develop it. The growth of this bacteria causes mold, which if consumed, may result in serious ailments.

'It is necessary, therefore, that food be stored in a temperature ranging between 40 and 50 degrees Fahrenheit until used.

'The majority of the people now realize these facts, which in addition to the convenience and utility of electric refrigeration accounts for its tremendous acceptance in a few years time.

'A good electric refrigerator will pay for itself in a short time by the food saving and convenience it makes possible. In the average home, approximately 10 to 15 per cent of the foods purchased are lost by spoilage. By installing an electric refrigerator the purchaser not only constitutes a saving, but insures the health and happiness of his family against spoiled foods for all time.'

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Button and family have moved to Cameron from Hillsboro. Mr. Button is filling the vacancy made at the Texas Power & Light Company office made when Mr. Cecil McGregor was transferred to Athens from Cameron.

ESSEX CHALLENEGR IN TESTS HERE FRIDAY

HORSTMANN BROTHERS PRESENT 1930 CAR IN SERIES OF TESTS

Carrying a representative of The Herald to the Taylor oil field Friday March 7, where a new gusher was to come in the 1930 Essex Challenger presented by Horstmann Brothers was used in a quick run to the field. The newspaper reported was placed at the scene of the gusher in record time and incidentally observed the wonderful features of the New Essex Challenger.

The trip was made also as a part of the National Essex Challenge Week. It was a novel test throughout, the element of quick transportation entered into the trip as the run was made against time to witness the bringing in of the well, and also a series of power tests were made which shows to remarkable advantage the new Essex.

The following tests will be of interest to readers of this paper:

A new Essex sedan taken from show rooms of Horstmann Brothers for test. This demonstration was arranged in compliance with National Essex Challenge Week and following results obtained:

A total of 176 and 65-100 miles covered on the run which included a trip to the Taylor oil field approximately 17 miles southeast of Taylor.

Gasoline test from Buckholts to Cameron shows a mileage per gallon attained as follows: 20 71-100 miles per gallon. This test was made by disconnecting vacuum tank from gas supply and one half gallon was used.

Brake test as follows: Challenger permitted to attain speed of 30 miles per hour and sedan stopped within 15 feet and one inch by tape measure showing remarkable operation of the four wheel brakes.

Accelleration test as follows: Challenger moving in high gear at 5 miles per hour attained speed of 38 miles per hour in ten seconds.

Accelleration test No. 2 as follows: Car stopped and gears shifted from low to second and high, attaining speed of 47 miles per hour in 15 seconds.

Power test on Knob Hill near Rogers as follows: Car started in high gear at foot of hill with four passengers and variable speed of from 5 to 10 miles per hour up steep grade in high gear.

Power test No. 2: Car started in high gear at foot of hill holding speed from 5 to 7 miles per hour and when reaching highest point of grade Essex sedan made complete circle of road in high gear and moved powerfully up to crest in high at speed of 5 miles per hour showing remarkable power in high gear.

Power test No. 3: Essex approached hill at normal crusing speed and attained speed of 37 miles per hour at crest, low speed being 37 miles per hour during climb.

Power Test No. 4: Car started in high gear from complete stop at foot of hill and attained speed of 25 miles per hour at crest of hill.

As stated above this car is the standard Essex Challenger four door sedan and a new car never driven and with no mileage on its speedometer. All tests were made against strong winds, both as to gasoline tests and hill climbing power tets. The consumption of lubricating oil over the 176 mile drive was negligible.

Epworth League Will Present Comedy On Tuesday, March 18

The clever comedy, 'Oh, Didn't It Rain' will be produced Tuesday evening of next week (March 18) at the Yoe High school auditorium. This play is sponsored by the Senior Epworth League of the Methodist church and the players are from Waco, directed by Mrs. Tullie Mistrot of the Mistrot School of Expression and Dramatic Art.

The players will represent collegiate characters and lively camp scenes will be featured. There are twelve players, who will appear in the local performance, and one of the two 'negro' parts will be played by Dr. Ola D. Massie, who is a former Cameron girl and is well known here.

Don't miss this witty play of three acts and the opportunity of enjoying an evening of wholesome fun and amusement.

News Of Seventh Grade

The following are original conversations written by the Seventh grade:

Conversation

'Jerry, even if Jack didn't have many pleasures, he should have waited till after school to go fishing, for an education is priceless.'

'But, John, the place was too far away to get there and fish a while and come back after school, and besides I think Jack needs some recreation for 'all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.'

'That's all true, but if he has no more responsibility tha n to be sent to school and then go fishing, he should not be allowed to have fun until he learned better.'

'However, John, school sometimes makes me tired, and, though I don't want to, I am sometimes tempted to play hooky. He has lived under different conditions and cannot stand the temptation.'

'But, Jerry, he should not betray his father's trust. You'll never win me. Goody-bye.'

'The same here, John, good-bye.'

Roy Baskin.

Such Argument

We were over at Bill's the other day. The gang was tired of marbles, so we sat in the shade of a chinaberry tree, discussing events. It was hot summer time but we got to talking about football. A remark was made by Sam.

'You know,' he said, 'I don't think football is so fast. I'd rather play baseball any day. There's more action to it.'

I said, 'I don't know about that. In baseball you just jump around and don't run far. In football you get away for a long run (sometimes) and then you run after somebody on the other side and catch him on the one foot line after a thrilling 75 yard run.'

Then up came Sam with another argument. 'But baseball is our national game. It's also played by nearly all the rest of the world. Just the United States and Canada play real football.'

Then put in Bill, another champion for football, 'Yes, but look at the great crowds that come to a football game.'

Sam said, 'But that's just once a week. They have nearly that many people every day of the week in base ball. And look at the world's series crowds.'

I said, 'And how about an Army-Navy bame.'

After all this long and weighty argument we went to a universally liked pastime, Kites.'

Giles Avriett.

Why Wayne Went Fishing

'Hey, wait a minute, Wayne. Did you go fishing yesterday?'

'Yes, who told you?'

'Sam did. He saw you going.'

'He must have been late to school then.'

'He was, but tell why you skipped school.'

'Aunt Polly told me yesterday I couldn't go fishing any this month and you know I haven't been in nearly a year, so I just had to take a day off.'

'Your're about as much in the right as you are wrong. But you could have waited until Saturday and asked Mr. Davis if you could get off. Anyhow I hope you don't get in trouble about it. So long.'

Ernest Sharpe.

A Fuss With Mother About Old Clothes

One morning mother said, 'Bill, wear your pants to your old suit and your rubber boots because it is raining and I don't want you to ruin your good trousers.'

Bill said, 'Oh mother, I don't want to wear them because I don't look well in old clothes.'

His mother said, 'All right wear your good clothes but if you get muddy I will not have them cleaned and pressed this week.'

Bill was very happy and at dinner he came home and said, 'Mother I got them muddy but won't you have them cleaned.'

His mother said, 'No.' Sunday he had to go around dirty but he never wore his good clothes on rainy days again because it is not your looks that count.

Corrol Green.

A Boy That Stayed Away From School To Go Fishing

Jack and I met at the corner. I was started to school and he was going fishing.

I said, 'Jack we are going to learn how to parse verbs in school today and you will have a hard time understanding tomorrow if you are not there.'

Jack hung his head and said, 'I don't care I will have a good time fishing.' So J—ack and I parted. That afternoon after school I saw Jack coming down the road all muddy and wet.

I said, 'Jack I believe you had pretty good luck.'

Jack replied, 'I did; I fell in the creek and got all muddy and did not catch but one little three inch perch. I wish I had gone to school instead.'

Roderick Long.

Last Friday we had our section tryouts in declamation. The following won: 7C: Giles Avriett, first; Frank Newton, second; Roy Baskin, third Patsy McGregor, first; Regina Moseley, second; Helen Swift, third. In 7B: Joseph Miller, first. Marie Brod first; Gwayne Shipp, second; Ruby Lee Story, third. Next week we are going to have our final tryout of these 17 pupils.

The flowers that we planted are coming up now.

We didn't get to have our hay-ride last Friday. The seventh graders that attended the Freshman party reported a good time.

We haven't any more 'cripples' this week, but those we have are still with us.

Giles, Roy and Ernest are the representatives from the seventh grade for the arithmetic contest.

Robert Crowell likes garlic. He carries it in his pocket so he can take a bite at recess.

This is the last week of the fourth term. Only two more terms of school. Report cards will be given out next week.

The baseball teams have not been chosen for the County Meet.

Start Railway Survey

With the beginning of the railroad survey from Fredericksburg, through Mason, to Brady and from Eden to San Angelo much attention will be attracted to that rich section of Texts and those towns should all profit greatly. It is a safe guess, too, that before this line is completed, the Southern Pacific will be seeking an extension of its Austin-Llano line to Mason to give that section a short haul to the Gulf.

Mississippi Lady Says She Felt Stronger, Better After Taking Cardui.

Greenwood, Miss.—Mrs. W. D. Taylor, of 1313 Carrollton Avenue, this city, has written of her use of Cardui as follows:

"About five years ago, I was in ill health. I suffered a great deal of pain in my sides and in the lower part of my body. I was weak and nervous, and at the least noise I felt like I must scream.

"At times I would have to go to bed. My head would ache. It would take me three or four days to get over these spells.

"A friend told me to take Cardui, which I did. After my first bottle, I saw some improvement. When I had taken three bottles, I felt stronger and better than I had in some time. I did not have any more of those bad spells.

"I certainly recommend Cardui."

Thousands of other women recommend Cardui, after having found it of valuable assistance to them in building up their health.

Cardui is a purely vegetable medicine, and contains nothing harmful. The medicinal value of the herbs from which Cardui is extracted have been well-known in the history of medicine for more than six hundred years.

INCONSISTENCY

Will H. Mayes, veteran newspaper man of Texas and editor of the 'Texas and Texans' column which appears in dozens of papers in the state, has a few words to say in a recent article about the 'home merchant' who preaches 'trade at home' and then spends his money for stationery and other supplies, which the home printer can furnish as good and as cheaply, from 'glib-talking, traveling salesmen.'

Mr. Mayes' article fits so exactly the condition prevailing in a few instances in Alpine that we can't let it go by without copying it in the Avalanche. We appreciate the fact that most of the Alpine merchants are loyal to all the home enterprises, including the newspaper, but we can name two or three at least of the most 'prominent' ones—those who preach the loudest and longest about trading at home and 'keeping Alpine money in Alpine' who are guilty of the very charge that Mr. Mayes, makes in his article.

Read Mr. Mayes' little article, think it over and decide if this 'trade at home' business should not be extended to include EVERY business in town. The newspaper does as much as any other one agency to build up the community, bring more people here and increase property values. It pays taxes, spends the money it makes here, contributes to the upkeep of the schools, churches, athletic programs and everything else that comes along in addition to the yards and miles of space given away free in its columns in boosting the town and community. Should we not be considered when 'keep Alpine money in Alpine' is being preached and demand the same consideration that the grocery stores, dry goods stores, confectioneries, and every other line of business in Alpine are demanding? We believe so. Here's Mr. Mayes' article—read it and think.

'Home Pride First. The citizen without pride in his own community has no pride in his state and mighty little patriotism. One's first duty is to home enterprises. An editor of one of Teaxs' best weekly newspapers—a man who has all his life given more time to work for his town and country than to his own financial interests—recently told me that some of the business concerns of his town that have much to say about 'mail order business' and who would boycott a citizen who orders goods in their line out of town, are getting their stationery and job printing from glib-talking, traveling salesmen, instead of buying it at home. Putting it down plainly, in terms that can't be misunderstood: The business that doesn't support in every possible way home enterprises, including the home printing plant, doesn't deserve support.'

Consistency, thou art a jewel!

—Alpine Avalanche.

News Of Seventh Grade

The poem 'Children's Hour' was read, then we told in our own words what the poem meant to us.

The Children's Hour

Just about dark, after the day's work is children's hour. Longfellow is in his room when he hears his children in the chamber overhead. Then the door opens and his three children come down the stairway. They rush into the room and climb on their father's chair and kiss him. Longfellow thinks how much he loves his children and how he always will love them.

Ralph Koepf.

The Children's Hour

In his poem Longfellow shows us how much he loves his children. He also tells us how happy and merry they are. The children slip into his room and climb upon his chair and shower him with kisses.

Howard Terry.

The Children's Hour

Longfellow was a lover of children and has expressed himself that way in many poems. But above all he loved his own children and, maybe to set an example for other children lovers he wrote this poem on how he has set aside an hour that he might enjoy being with his children and to show his love for them. He tells us that the hour for play is about twilight and that he expects some raid or trick. He carries the fun on with them but tells them how much he loves them. In a poetic way he says they are like bandits that have come to capture him but in turn he captures their hearts. He will love and keep them till he dies and his body turns to dust.

Ernest Sharpe.

The Children's Hour

There is a time in late evening when you should stop work, which is known as 'The Children's Hour.' Mr. Long fellow's children, Alice, Allegra and Edith, are coming down the stairs to surprise him. They enter his study through three doors and climb all over him and his chair. They kiss him and hug him. He says he is not a match for them and he says he will keep them till the walls go to ruin.

We read one of the greatest short stories ever written, 'The Whistle' by Benjamin Franklin. In our own words we told what the story meant to us.

The Whistle

From this story I get these good thoughts, 'Don't pay too much for your whistle,' which means, Don't pay too much for things that I do not need; not to give too much for things that I can get cheaper; to spend money for useful things.

Alton Key.

The Whistle

When Benjamin Franklin was 7 years old, the people in the town filled his pockets with coppers. He started to the shop that sold toys. On the way he saw a boy who had a whistle. The sound of it enchanted Benjamine Franklin and he offers all of his money for it. When he took it home, his sisters and brothers told him what good things he could have bought with the money. They told him that he paid four times too much for it. He got so stirred up about it that he cried. When he grew up he saved his money. When someone would go to sell him something, he would say, 'Don't pay too much for your whistle.' When he saw men who cared for popularity and fine clothes and homes with fine furniture he would say, 'Don't pay too much for your whistle.' When he saw a miser who would not help other people and gave up all of his comforts just to accumulate wealth he would say, 'You have paid very dear for your whistle.'

Vernon Mayfield.

We read the poem 'For Others' in class. Before discussing the poem each of us wrote a short paragraph telling what the poem meant to us.

For Others

As you live and grow older, build up things so that the younger ones coming after you may use them to build better characters. Then the world will be growing better every day. The old man in this poem did not expect to pass over his path again but he wanted to help others that would.

Dallas Criswell.

For Others

This is a beautiful poem and it may teach anyone a lesson if you wish to get one from it. Everyone should be like the old man, not like the fellow pilgrim. We should build bridges to help everyone, for we must come to many chasms in our life. This bridge the old man built is the bridge of help. You should not think of the welfare of yourself but the welfare of others. Try to build many bridges during your life time for others because it will help them greatly and when they see how grateful someone has been to them maybe they will build some bridges for others.

Helen Swift.

We are having many interesting ball games now. The seventh grade boys played the Freshmen today but the score was 2 to 4 in favor of the Freshmen.

We had our hay ride Friday night. When we met at the park two trucks of hay were waiting for us. We rode around then came back to the park to eat sandwiches, fruit and soda water. A good time was reported by all.

Laddis was absent Monday.

Ask Wilder about his calf, if he can ride him.

Texas And Texans

By Will H. Mayes

Retiring Communities

When a man makes up his mind to retire from whatever he is doing he stops growing. In most cases he soon dies, for growth is essential to life. When, for any reason, he stops growing, he is soon retired, whether he would be or not, for a progressive people soon lose sight of those who stand still; and this is a progressive age.

Cities, towns and communities are subject to the same rule. When they quit all efforts at going forward, they appear to stand still for awhile but soon go into decay. No live man cares to cast his fortune and that of his family in such a place.

The wrecks of former progressive towns may be seen all around and in the wreckage there remain only those without enough enterprise to get away. The others have gone.

Headed Which Way?

Every place is just about what its people would have it. If a town is going forward, it is because its people are forward-going. Your community is merely what it is made by its citizens. A town does not need to be large to be progressive; a village may be made just as attractive, just as habitable, just as inviting to settlement as any city in Texas. Oftner than not a city block or city suburb is merely a collection of country or small-town people who have moved from their former homes to escape from the decay that was all about them.

There are a thousand or more places in Texas that are right at the turning point. Whether they progress or become ghosts of their former days is for their people to decide. Which way are you helping to head yours?

Newspapers Best Builders

Because they can go right into the homes of so many people on regular visits and talk to so many in whatever terms they will, local newspapers are the leading factors in the direction of town and community affairs. It is hard to measure their influence for good or bad. A discouraged citizenry; a hopeful, alert paped with a vision is an irrestible power in building up a like sentiment. The moral is: keep your newspaper encouraged, keep it going at high speed, don't let it lag for lack of support, either financial or moral. If your editor gets out a good paper, tell him so—not once, but frequently. If there is an editorial, an article or a feature in it that you like, let him know it. He needs backing, even some praise, and too often he fails to get either. I know from long experience.

Going After Fakers

The fake advertising schemer is going to have hard sailing in Seguin if the merchants take advantage of the recently adopted ordinance requiring all solicitors to obtain permits. When fakers learn that they have to get approval from a committee before they can do business in a town they pass it up. Perhaps Seguin merchants have learned that local newspaper advertising pays and that almost all other kinds is largely waste.

Overhead Expenses

Business men who look carefully into investments want to know the 'overhead' expenses. A law suit filed at San Antonio shows that half of all collections for an appealing memorial enterprise was to be paid the solicitors and collectors of the funds. In far too many 'reform' and 'charity' organizations, high powered collectors get far more than ever reaches the purpose for which it is given, and officials get the bulk of what is left. People would be far more liberal if only they could know that their gifts would not go to job holders.

DeWitt County's Wealth

Dairy products, poultry and eggs and tomatoes paid DeWitt county farmers $1,491,700 last year. With plenty of hogs, corn, oats, hay cattle, fruits and vegetables, it is easy to be seen that Dewitt farmers did not suffer even if the cotton crop was short and the price low.

Wisconsin Men Converted

A train load of Wisconsin men, including representatives of the department of agriculture and the secretary of the real estate brokers' board, visited Texas the last week in February going as far South as the Rio Grande Valley. They were surprised and delighted at what they saw and heard of this great state, and the result will likely be that the ban against Texas realtors will be removed.

They brought with them baggage cars containing Wisconsin products, such as cheese, condensed milk, grain, flour and Christmsa trees. Doubtless they learned while here that Texas is producing all these things and much more at far less expense than they can be produced in Wisconsin.

Wharton Hemp Factory

Wharton county farmers and business men have met all the requirements as to acreage of hemp to be pledged, site for mill, etc., and it is reported that a flax mill will be constructed right away, thus opening a new industry for Texas. Those back of the enterprise are certain that the lower Colorado river valley is well adapted to hemp culture.

Hatcheries Busy

Ten years ago there was not a commercial hatchery in all Texas. Now they are numerous and hundreds of thousands of baby chicks are hatched daily during the hatching season. The Floresville Chronicle-Journal states that there are five in Wilson county all running to full capacity.

Butter Plant Succeeds

The Hale County Dairy Association owns and has been operating a $30,000 butter plant at Plainview for 9 months. In that time it has shipped 428,435 pounds of butter and paid for butterfat and operating expenses $169,819 paying a naverage of 41.7 for No. 1 butterfat and 39.3 for No. 2. Eight hundred farmers belong to the association. Cream stations are maintained at three neighboring towns, from which cream is delivered daily. This is a splendid lesson for others in the advantages of co-operation.

Live On Home Products

A Henderson mercantile firm has sent letters to customers stating that about $1,000,000 is paid annually by Rusk county farmers for feed shipped into the county, paid for with low priced cotton. The firm urges a policy of growing this feed at home to stop the economic waste. In some places bankers and merchants are refusing credit unless farmers sign agreements to plant specified parts of their farms to feedstuffs, having found that the all-cotton farmer can not pay his debts from his crop.

Getting Gas Lines

Kerrville and Menard are two thriving 'Hill Country' cities that are preparing to use gas. Natural gas is no longer regarded as a luxury, and modern towns that can get it at areasonable price should hurry along the getting.

Pertinent Questions

Edna has been invaded by stationery and hosiery salesmen recently. This caused the Edna Herald to ask: 'We wonder how many of our business men patronized the foreign printer and how many of our people patronized the hose salesman.' Also, we wonder if any Edna business houses dealing in hosiery bought stationery and what is their attitude toward the Edna citizen who bought hose from the foreign salesman? This matter of buying out of Edna is one that canwork both ways.' Merchants who do not patronize home enterprises can't reasonably expect home patronage.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over thirty years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the wrapper all these years just to protect the coming generations. Do not be deceived. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

Never attempt to relieve your baby with a remedy that you would use for yourself.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The County Newspaper

'The Country newspaper' a writer says, 'is becoming more and more a community newspaper—the community in the sense that towns and smaller cities from one to five thousand population are gradually spreading into the rural regions.

'The rural and interuban population have so much in common, with the telephone, rural mail, parcel post and better highways that they are more like one big neighborhood.

'More farmers are building homes in towns and smaller cities to give their children the advantages of high schools, colleges and business opportunities.

'In all lines of social development, the community newspaper is playing its part and is becoming more valuable property from an advertising standpoint and as a leading factor in the co-operative growth of city and country.'

Four hundred and thirty cities of the United States have adopted the city manager form of government.

The white men, said an Indian, criticised the Indian for scalping their enemies but the white men have no room to talk for the white man skins his friends.

A traveler stopped to change tires in a desolate region in the far west. 'I suppose,' he remarked to a native onlooker, 'that even in these parts of the country, the bare necessities of life has risen tremendously in price.' 'You're right, stranger,' replied the native gloomily, 'it ain't worth drinking when you get it.'

Marian Talley says that she would rather milk cows than sing. We believe that Miss Talley should have kept on singing and let some fellows who think they can sing, milk the cows.

They used to call the small places tank towns. Nowadays the way to give a more accurate conception of the smallness of a place is to say that it has but one filling stat[ion].

Whittier made the occasion of being snowbound the theme of a famous poem but being snowbound today merely means a lot of extra expense and inconvenience.

The good roads movement is in its infancy. The spirit of this country will not permit road building to stop until every community is touched by a surfaced road and every farm connected with an all weather road.

During a recent drive we came upon a town that we had never before visited. All the way along we looked vainly for something that might give the name of the town. There wasn't a sign of any kind. The road leading to the town was not marked. When we got to the town we had to drive down to the depot to read the name of the town on the depot. A lot of towns are just as poorly marked as is that one.

Most every editorial writer of the country has written a paragraph on the tragedy of the fall of Albert Fall. It is a tragedy when a man make the blunders that Fall did but it is no more a tragedy for Fall than it would be for any other person not so well known as Fall is. The loss of good name and reputation is the greatest tragedy that can come to a man be he rich or poor, unknown or great.

season the acreage was back almost to the high watermark of 1926. During the past few years, foreign countries have been growing more and more cotton until the world price has declined to an unremunerative figure.

In an emergency of this character, nothing that the Government can do can succeed without the assistance and coperation of the individual. Thoroughly aware of the plight of the farmer and in an effort to bring to agriculture some measure of the returns accruing to other lines of industry, Congress has passed the Farm Bill and the Farm Board is now functioning under this Act. It is becoming increasingly evident that the Board itself has in mind policies of far reaching significance but, in order to become effective, they must meet with cooperation on the part of the individual.

It is to the great mass of independent growers that the importance of acreage control must appeal in order to have any definite effect on the total output. Partial reduction in acreage by members of cooperative associations would not be sufficient to restore prices to a profitable level. Regardless of the action of those who are now cooperating under the activities of the Farm Board Agencies, each individual grower should feel called upon to weigh the whole subject carefully and be led to substitute a certain percentage of the land planted to cotton the past two years to other purposes. The Department of Agriculture has just pointed out a variety of ways in which the farmer can produce supplies needed for the farm and the home which are now purchased when they might easily be grown on the place. If the cotton grower will whole-heartedly unite with and support the Farm Board in its program to limit production of certain crops through diversification of farming activity, the road will be opened to substantially improved agricultural prospects.

Very truly yours,
J. W. JAY & CO.

year, Miss Mollie Moore, who received a certificate from the Legioneers which now occupies a prominent place in the capitol at Austin. For the past two years splendid club Year Books have been made. The one for this year bears a beautiful hand-painted cover in green and gold, club colors, and a large yellow chrysanthemum, the club flower, the handy work of Miss Mollie Moore.

Two years ago Miss Ann Stallworth was elected as State Treasurer of the B. & P. W. Clubs of Texas, and last year was unanimously re-elected to her second term, which she is now serving.

Ada M. Each state has a Gift Chairman who have been asked to meet at Richmond, July 1931, when a definite financial plan may be worked out to purchase and establish a National Headquarters at Washington, D. C., for the Federated B. & P. W. Clubs.

Of course, it will depend upon the size of the fund as to how rapidly the national committee can move forward. The State of Texas has been pledged for $350 which will be called the Florence Sands Memorial Fund. Cameron club has paid her pledge to the fund.

MRS. HENRY PATILLO HOSTESS TO MONDAY NIGHT BRIDGE

Green table covers and score pads and tallies in Irish design were reminders of the approaching St. Patrick's Day. Miss Bill Fontaine made high score for the games and Mrs. Earl Burke, low, and they were awarded toilet accessories in the chosen color.

Following the games, the hostess served white and green brick cream and individual cakes iced in green. Rose Marie glassware made a pretty contrast with the green trays, which were used for serving. Table favors, which centered the trays, were novelty dolls dressed in ruffled green costumes. They were won by Mesdames Earl Burke, Penn Wolf and W. D. Bigbee.

Spring Flowers Add To Color Of St. Patrick Party Decorations

One of the most beautifully appointed of the series of St. Patrick's parties that have been given was that of Tuesday afternoon when Miss La Verne Bowmer entertained with bridge at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. W. Kemp. Spring flowers in a variety of colors relieved the green which predominated in the table covers, score pads, markers and tallies.

Mrs. A. J. Triggs made high score among the eight tables of players and Mrs. A. H. Baskin was low. They were presented a large and a small print of 'The End of the Trail.'

Further carrying out the chosen motif was the collation which was offered the guests on trays centered with green hats filled with shamrock candy, the latter going as table favors. A green congealed salad, lime ice, and green shamrock sandwiches added color to the plates.

Miss Carroll Easley of Rosebud and Mrs. Swift of Gardiner, Maine, were out of town guests.

Rapid Expansion Of Used Car Market

Detroit, March 12.—An indication of the rapid expansion of the used car market and an assurance of a brightening business outlook was revealed in an announcement by the Chevrolet Motor Company today that Winter sales of used cars by the nation-wide Chevrolet dealer organization are exceeding by more than twenty-five per cent the best previous winter record.

Despite the extremely cold and stormy weather in the northern states in January and adverse weather conditions in some other sections, sales of used cars by Chevrolet dealers during the month totaled 60,000 cars as compared with the January record of 48,000 established last year.

A quickening of general business and unusually mild weather in February assured a new record for that month even though final figures for the first twenty days of February show an increase of 54.4 per cent over the corresponding period of February last year. During the first 20 days of February 1930, the Chevrolet dealer organization sold 58,922 used cars, nearly equalling in 20 days the record month of January. The stature of the February achievement may be further appreciated by a comparison of this figure with 38,176 used cars sold during the corresponding period of February last year.

In commenting on the achievement, officials pointed out that it was made possible through the public confidence that has been built up by Chevrolet dealers through the general policy of offering for sale only dependable merchandise. They explain that through the widespread use of the red tag 'with an O. K. that counts,' prospective used car buyers are assured that every vital part of the car has been properly reconditioned and put in shape to offer thousands of miles of unused transportation.

Achieving Success In Business

A book to interest young, wide-awake, ambitious people—to inspire them to higher things in life—is 'Achieving Success in Business.' In this book illustrated with actual pictures of successes, the author has kept in mind that youth has a limitless ambition, that young men and young women reach for the stars, that they are hungry, insatiable for life with its rich experiences and sensations, that, for youth, life in all its fullness lies AHEAD.

It has been long known that the biggest incomes and the richest opportunities are to be found in the field of business that young men and young women often achieve greater success before they are thirty than many men achieve in other callings in a life time. But, so far as any one knows, few books have been written telling why. 'Achieving Success in Business' is one of the few.

The courses which are known to equip young people best for any position the business world offers are explained in the helpful book. Tyler Commercial College and School of Business Administration is the publisher of this book—the school that has used much care in choosing its faculty, its courses and its system of teaching. All of thees are discussed in the book, 'Achieving Success In Business.' Reasons are given why the graduates of the Private Secretarial, General Business, General Railroad, General Western Union, General Civil Service, General Cotton Classing, Radio, Penmanship, and many other courses are leaders and where the leaders are.

Tyler Commercial College wants every ambitious person to read 'Achieving Success in Business.' It is to your interest to send for the book if you want a good position; if you want to be well on the road to success long before you are thirty; if you want to accomplish all this in half the usual time and at less expense. Just send the coupon printed below for the big, helpful illustrated book. It's free, send now.

KONJOLA WINS TRIUMPHS EVERY DAY EVERYWHERE

NEW AND DIFFERENT MEDICINE WELCOMES ANY TEST—RESULT IS WHAT COUNTS

Results are what count; mere words and promises mean nothing. Konjolo has won fame and friends just by making good, and that is the medicine sufferers want and should have. Imagine the joy of Mr. Raymond Schmidt, R. F. D. No. 1, Sedalia, Mo., when he was able to say:

'Though I know it to be true I find it hard to believe Konjola in just 3 months, ended my sufferings of nine years duration. For that long time I suffered from indigestion, constipation, kidney trouble and catarrh. No food agreed with me; every night I had to get up numerous times, and the catarrh certainly added to my misery. In those nine years I tried no end of medicine and treatments, and everyone was a mierable failure. But how different with Konjola. Week by week I grew better, and in three months I was my old self again. To me Konjola is the most wonderful medicine in the world, and I recommend it with all my heart.'

Konjola is sold in Cameron at Geo. A. Thomas & Son Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

MRS. TERRY WILEY HOSTESS TO FRIENDS AT BRIDGE

Another in the series of delightful St. Patrick parties being given this month was one last Thursday evening at which Mrs. Terry Wiley was hostess. Tallies, score cards, napkins and other appointments were in the Irish motif, and spring flowers wee used to advantage in the rooms where the tables were placed for games of bridge.

High score awards, a deck of cards for ladies and a necktie for gentlemen were won by Mrs. Eulan Wiley and Mr. Charlie Nabours.

Following the games, the hostess served ambrosia topped with whipped cream, cake squares, and salted nuts. Green trays were used and they were centered with bowls of narcissi and violets.

Those enjoying the hospitality were Mrs. Russell Wine of San Antonio, Mrs. Flint Sorrell of Mission, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Nabours, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Burke, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Patillo, Mr. and Mrs. Eulan Wiley and Miss Dulcie McCall.

SMILING floors and cheery furniture are merely a matter of surface appearance. Your floors, if they are properly refinished, will look just as nice as the floors in a new house and your furniture, under similar treatment, will rival the pieces in the furniture store windows.

The change is very easy to accomplish with LOWE BROTHERS NEPTUNITE VARNISH STAIN for it stains and varnishes at one stroke of the brush. It colors all of the cuts, scratches and marks making the surface uniform and it brings out the beauty of the wood grain.

Neptunite Varnish Stain is very easy to use. It stains and varnishes at the same time and it comes in a variety of pleasing colors.

Gause Community News

Mr. John Walston died Sunday morning about five-thirty o'clock after several years of ill health. Mr. Walston had been very ill for several weeks. He was an old citizen of the Gause community and had many friends. He was eighty-one years of age. We extend our sympathy to the grieved ones. The funeral services were held at the Baptist church Monday morning at ten o'clock officiated by Rev. Kendell, pastor of the Baptist church. A host of out of town relatives were present. Among them were Mrs. Mulenix of Waco, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Jones of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Walston of Hearne Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walston and Hubert Walston of Houston, Miss Mabel Walston of Rosenburg, Mr. and Mrs. Limb Walston of Hearne, Mr. and Mrs. Henson and Mr. and Mrs. Henderson of Branchville.

Rev. Kendell, pastor of the Baptist church met with a group of junior B. Y. P. U. boys Saturday afternoon and enjoyed a social. It was decided that the boys would have a social once a month. The next one will be the second Saturday in April.

The Gause girls' basket ball team attended the tournament at Cameron on Friday and Saturday. They won second place. The team this year holds the best record any team has ever made here. They played seven games and lost only one, that was to Rockdale in the last round at the tournament. The score then was 25 to 16. Both teams played exceedingly well and the game was tighter than the score really indicates. At the end of the first quarter the score was 4 to 5, Rockdale leading; at the half it was 10 to 11, Gause leading. Teams defeated by Gause this year are Milano, Yarrelton, Buckholts, Fox and Cameron. The players were Leasie, Lottie and Gertrude Hauptfleisch, Eleanor Cook, Jessie Pharis, Winona Mae Vaughn, Lois Roper, Beadie Kilpatrick, Opal Carrol and Eula Faye Hafley. The coach was Mrs. Arthur Bowling. The team has an invitation to attend a meeting of a number of teams in Waco to play soon. Arrangements are being made for the team to be taken and shown 'a time of their life.'

The junior boys basket ball team also played at the tournament. They played a good game but were defeated 14 to 17 by Sharp.

Practice is now being started in tennis and indoor baseball. We hope they prove to be as good in these and also for a volley ball team.

North Charlotte, N. C.—In telling how he was benefited by Thedford's Black-Draught, Mr. John M. Creps, of 902 Charles Avenue, this city, writes:

UNIQUE MOTIF IS FEATURE OF ENTERTAINMENT WITH MRS. O. M. SMITH HOSTESS

Unique in every detail was the party given last Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Oxsheer Smith, when she entertained members of the 42 Club. When the guests arrived, they were given an idea of the unusual motif when they noticed a torn down truck and a partially wrecked car on the lawn with a washing and greasing sign near by. These cars proved inspiration for innumerable telephone calls during the afternoon. A placard on the door informed arrivals that they could get free air and water inside.

The reception rooms presented the appearance of a filling station with an adjoining lunch counter, the latter having been fashioned at the French doors leading into the dining room. There was an immense automobile casing in the hall; pictures of cars were on every wall; and the with automobile accessories instead of customary knick-knacks.

Tallies and score pads were in automobile design, and instead of ringing a bell at the end of the games the winners were given an automobile horn to sound. 84 favors were miniature cars and tools.

After the games the guests were invited, one table at a time, into the dining room, where Miss Aetna Smith and Mrs. Swift of Gardiner, Maine, gave them their choice of No-Nox or Ethyl gasoline, hot tea, or iced punch. They then served themselves buffet style to hamburgers, sandwiches, dill pickles and candied orange peel, and returned to their tables, which in the meantime had been covered with crepe paper luncheon cloths on which were pasted pictures of cars.

BAPTIST W. M. S.

W. M. S. members of the county met at the Cameron church Monday at ten o'clock to take a study course. Mrs. J. C. Martin taught the book 'Things We Should Know.' There were representatives present from Burlington, Little River and Milano. Lunch was served in the Sunday school annex at noon.

10:30 . . . and the Boy from the Drug Store hadn't Arrived

Four people were in the living room playing bridge.

When 10:30 came and the boy from the drug store hadn't arrived with the ice cream, Mrs. Barnard began to get nervous.

The Randalls, recent neighbors, both murmured something polite about "having to go".

"Don't rush off, please," said Mrs. Barnard. "I'll call and see what's the matter."

So she called Mr. Carter, the druggist, and the boy came over right away.

It was embarrassing though, to have to go into details from the telephone in the hall, when they could overhear every word she said.

Telephones around the house where you need them do help.

Had there been an "extension" in the back hall, say, Mrs. Barnard could have conversed in comparative privacy.

Few know that the extra cost of one or two "extensions" is somewhat less than that of the single telephone they now have.

By a wisely-placed "extension" or two, and perhaps a rearrangement of the equipment you already have, an expert telephone man can often double the convenience of the telephones in your home.

It was embarrassing, though . . .

"What Happened in a Home Night of Paul Revere's Ride"

By RUBY NICHOLSON
Seventh Grade Maysfield Student

It was after supper in the big white house on the corner of Washington Avenue and Brotherton Street, Kettleton. All had finished their chores and were sitting around the fire in the big fireplace. The younger children were talking of the happenings in school. Mary said, 'We had Paul Revere's Ride in our English lesson today. I like the poems, they are by Henry W. Longfellow.'

'Grand father, you were not living then were you?' asked little Jim.

'Yes my boy, I was thirty-five years old,' answered grandfather.

'Do you remember when Paul Revere knocked at your door?' asked Marguerite.

'He did not knock, did he mother?' this question was asked of his wife.

In olden days the husband called his wife mother, and the wife called her husband father.

'No he did not. I will never forget that noise. Father why do you not tell the children the story?' asked grandmother.

'Why I had never thought of it.'

'Oh, please do grandfather,' cried all the children at once.

'Drand faver, peas,' said little Jo and Ben, the twins, as they each took a place on grand father's knee.

'It was about one o'clock when I heard a noise like thunder.'

'What was the noise?'

'Why my boy it was the horse's hoofs that hit on my portico. I was a Minute Man and had been training for weeks. I grabbed my gun and ran to the front door. In the moon light I saw a man on a horse. He had on the Minute Man uniform and shouted, 'The British are coming to attack Concord and Lexington, by sea,' and galloped away. I ran back in the house to put on my clothes, while mother made a light and I heard a fine gentleman, your father, over there, who was then a baby, crying. Mother told Josephine, (the one you are named after, little Jo) to go pick up the baby so he would not cry, though I saw tears in her own eyes as she fixed things for me. Mother told Pauline to put up a lunch for me and Tom to go and saddle Prince. When I started to leave I called for my powder horn and I must have the saddle bags filled with a few clothes and a good lunch. Mother went into another room when she heard me call to tell her good bye. I heard her say, 'Oh, can I let him go, I may never see him again,' but when she came into the room she was smiling and then she kissed me goodbye. When I left all were crying except mother and the baby, it had fallen asleep. I kissed it and crying 'good bye,' speeded away on my horse. It sure was hard to leave such a good home and one who tried so hard to keep me from knowing that she was worried.'

After telling this story grandfather felt sad and giving the twins to their mother to put to bed, for they were asleep, he went over and kissed his wife and the two old people went to their room to bed.

ENGLISH DIVINE HEALER VISITS TEXAS MARCH 19

STOPS AT TEMPLE

Crowds gather wherever he comes to see this wonderful man who has helped so many in his life-time Cripples come from far and near, many with crutches that they hope to discard; scores flock to him suffering with one affliction or another. They bring their troubles to him, their misfortune, their losses, their business reverses, their sorrows, their heartaches, their tales of ill-fate, (the unkind world) their bereavements, and ask his advice; ask him to help them; to make life easier for them, to show them what has been accomplished for so many unfortunates before them, when nothing before seemed to help and bring success, happiness, comfort and prosperity into their homes.

This gifted man, a minister, was led to the discovery of the hidden secret of the Bible Healing that healed the multitudes in Bible Times, and as the seventh son spoken he loves to see this same Bible means of healing, raise up the sick and unfortunate today, and teach them how they too may reach up to the good things of life and again enjoy the priceless God given blessings to man of health, happiness, long life, prosperity and plenty.

That he says, is the divine wish that all should receive and enjoy just as in the blessed times of the Bible Period.

Read the thankful words—See Bible Healing at work today.

Gall Stones—

I was a terrible sufferer from a complication of diseases—I had gall stones, kidney trouble, catarrh, despondency and was on the verge of collapse. I made up my mind to try this healing. I was practically healed 'at the first visit.'—(Signed) Mrs. Mary Allen, 508, 7th Ave., Peoria, Ill.

Diarrhoea—

'After fifty years suffering with chronic diarrhoea, indigestion and intestinal trouble contracted in the summer of 1863, while in Camp Berry, at Washington, D. C., have been completely healed 'of my disease by Rev. Hawkins,' and have been ever since.—(Signed) A. H. Evans, 1224 Oak Ridge Ave., Pekin, Ill.

Rheumatism—

'I am pleased to announce that Rev. Hawkins has healed me of my Rheumatism from which I had suffered awfully for many years. He has also healed my son of epilepsy (fits) from which I never expected him to recover. I know of many other sick people this doctor has also healed."

(Signed) Ben Allen, Mason City, Ill.

Stomach Trouble—

'After ten years of the worst kind of stomach trouble and Insomnia (sleeplessness), I have been healed and restored back to health again.'

'I am eighty-six and although I don't understand it I feel like a new woman.'—(Signed) Margaret A. Jobe, 1207 N. Main St., Decatur, Ill.

Volumes could not speak all this grand man has done for the sick and distressed in mind, body or in business matters. How many has he shown the way out of their troubles, whatever they may have been. How many has he shown the way out of their ailments and disease, they may have been called, how many has he taught to be well and happy, successful and prosperous when poverty and sickness and sorrow were knocking at their door.

Whatever your trouble you should certainly see this grand Englishman, who has done so much for so many before you. He makes no charge for his services. People can give him whatever they want towards his traveling expense—little or much, that rests with you.

He declares that healing of sickness may be accomplished today as two thousand years ago, under the same conditions—he will point out the condition that must be observed. then universal healing is possible, he says.

Hear this grand talk on the greatest subject ever talked upon—See this grand man about your diseases.

The healer will be at the Stegall Hotel, Temple, Texas, all day Wednesday, March 19th, and will listen to all the troubles of the sick and unfortunate from early to late this one day only; regardless of weather.

Everyone in need is welcome to come.

CLEANUP PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED BY MAYOR

ANNUAL CIVIC CAMPAIGN FOR CAMERON FOR MARCH 30 TO APRIL 5TH

It has become an established practice in every wide awake community to clean house in the Spring of the year.

Much of our cleaning is due to a desire to make everything attract yet there is another important reason why our efforts in that direction should be thorough and complete. I refer to fire and disease prevention, and it is to that feature of the S Clean-Up activities that I am directing the attention of our people at this time.

Safety from fire and disease is a matter of supreme importance. Wherever there is dirt and disorder there is danger. A pile of trash may start a conflagration; a few ill-kept homes, dirty yards or stagnant pools may easily become the source of an epidemic. There is a marked similarity between fire and disease hazards. They have a common cause—dirt and carelessness. They have a common cure—constant care to prevent their existence.

Now, Therefore, I, W. W. Chambers, Mayor of the city of Cameron, do hereby disignate the period from March 30 to April 5 (inclusive), as Spring Clean-Up Week in Cameron, and I call upon every man, woman and child to dillingently observe the occasion by clearing away all things that menace our safety from fire or the public health.

I suggest to housekeepers that they begin in the attic and remove everything from the home that has outlived its day of usefulness. And, when that task has been completed, turn attention to the yard, garage and outhouses.

I call upon every business man to thoroughly inspect his buildings and premises, removing therefrom rubbish and other combustible materials that may have accumulated during the winter season.

This Spring Clean-Up Campaign should be carried into every section of the city, and the time to begin making preparations for it is now.

Let us enter actively into the work and thereby contribute to the safety, health and happiness of ourselves and our neighbors.

Given under my hand and seal of office, this the 12th day of March, A. D., 1930.

W. W. CHAMBERS, Mayor.

Drain Tile "Logs" Used as Building Material

A "log house" in which the "logs" are formed by common red drain pipe tile has been built in Kingsville, Ontario, Canada. Charles Miner, who erected the unique dwelling, chose tile for the material because it provides dead-air space in the walls to protect the interior from cold in winter and heat in summer.

The house stands on a foundation of concrete blocks, except for the porch and steps, which are supported by the tiles. A wooden framework, sheathed with boards in the usual manner, was first erected and the tile "logs" were laid in courses like brick veneer up the sides. At corners, the ends of the tiles overlap in crisscross fashion, much as did logs in the cabins of pioneer days. Where the ends of the logs are exposed, they are closed with cement colored to match. This insures dead-air space and prevents birds and squirrels from entering.

The cost of the unusual house is said to have been moderate as compared with the cost of the conventional wood or brick home.—Popular Science Monthly.

Early Man Had Faith in Arrow Divination

Long ago, in the most high and far off times, primitive man resorted to the making of magic to determine what course to pursue in the vast wilderness of his ancient world, writes Catherine Hargrave in the Boston Transcript. Arrow divination was a favored kind. To make this magic a circle was drawn on the ground with the proper rites and incantations and divided into the Four Directions. With more mystic ceremony arrows were cast into the ring and upon the manner of their falling depended the future.

The American Indians did this as well as the Asiatic peoples, and in both countries gaming sticks resembling arrows, sometimes with actual feathered shaftments and sometimes with the feathers painted upon them, were used to play a game much like the older magical processes, with a circle on the ground, divided into four or eight parts.

Cats Once Deified

Egyptian deification of the cat, says the Golden Book Magazine, has been traced as far back as four thousand years, and for many centuries the bodies of favorite cats were carefully embalmed and interred near the temple of Bubastis, the cat-faced goddess of Beni Hasan or of Heliopolis. One of the strangest archeological discoveries was that which disclosed the mummies of thousands of cats near the tomb of Beni Hasan recently.

Whether the domesticated cat is a native of Egypt is not known, but the first mention of the cat in China was as recent as 400. The cat also was unknown in Europe until just before the Christian era.

Character Comes First

Music, of all the arts, touches most widely on things which are humanly interesting; and if you shut out the knowledge of what is interesting in your fellow human beings, how is your art going to grow? Art, like many other things, gets it food from outside, and it is a mistake to suppose that it can feed exclusively on itself. And art is always interwoven with character, and we have even frequently to observe that character counts for more in the end than natural gifts of any kind, whether artistic or literary.—From "Hubert Parry His Life and Works," by Charles L. Graves.

Moon Viewed From Vessel

The Naval observatory says that the change in an observer's position from day to day on an ocean trip would affect the moon's apparent position so slightly as to be scarcely noticeable—that is, the moon's local time of rising would change from day to day just about as it would if the observer were stationary. However, if the rising of the moon were timed by a watch keeping for instance, Eastern standard time, the speed of the ship might be such that the risings on successive nights would be at approximately the same watch time.

Tree Saved by Washington

The American Forestry association says that the Washington oak in Audubon park, New Orleans, La., is famous for its beauty, its name, the number of annual visitors and its size. It is said to have acquired its name in the following fashion: President Washington was visiting a family by the name of Horry. At dinner Mr. Horry noticed that a tree obstructed his view and gave orders that it should be cut down. Washington heard this and objected. The tree was not cut down and has since been known as the Washington oak.

Cook Books in Story Form

To put over their message in the most pleasing guise, cook books once were written in story form or as a collection of letters, as in "Letters to a Young Housekeeper." Among such cook books was one entitled "Gentle Breadwinners." The heroine passes through various adventures in which she makes french icing, venetian cakes, mince meat, candied orange and lemon peel until, as the climax, she wins, by means of her good cooking, a home and a husband.—Detroit News.

Getting Out of the Rut

Every car driver knows that when a car gets into the rut on a deeply rutted road that it is very difficult to get out of the rut.

It is difficult for a human being who gets into a rut to make the necessary changes and adjustments to get out of the rut and to about face and start out on a new track.

Towns, like individuals, get into a rut and drift along in the same old way until everyone gets the feeling that it is no use to attempt to do anything to change conditions in the town.

This is an unfortunate condition. As a rule it is unnecessary. All that it requires for a car to get out of the rut is to turn aside in another direction.

All that it requires for a human being to get out of the rut is to turn aside and take up a new course of action and enter new fields of endeavor.

All that it requires for a town to get out of the rut is for the people of the town to begin believing that the town does not have to continue in the rut. To get the vision that there is a future, and that changes for the better are possible.

The first step is to formulate a plan and then get everyone behind the plan and carry out the program.

Cameron can lay out a plan and a program that will be a step further along the road of progress, a definite goal and mark and then work toward it.

If we reach it a new goal should be set. Cameron should have some definite aim for achievement before it each year and work together to accomplish that particular objective.

The Cameron Herald
